OUT FOR JUSTICE DVD

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This is the story of JUSTICE in America.

Steven Seagal is Gino Felino in this movie and he is a man who is OUT FOR JUSTICE and will stop at nothing until he finds what he is looking for which is justice. Gino Felino is a good cop in a bad city actually it is the worst city in the world unless you are a drug dealer or a gangbanger or a crack addict. This city is called BROOKLYN NEW YORK but Gino Felino grew up there on those mean streets so don't worry he can handle it.

One day Gino Felino's partner gets killed by Ritchie a crack smoking mafia guy. There is this sweet old grandma who honks at him in traffic and so he shoots her face off. This guy is a bonafide syko. But Gino in his own way is also very crazy too. He goes to a bar and beats everybody up because they don't help him get Ritchie.

But we also see his sensitive side when this guy throws a dog out of a station wagon and Gino Felino rescues the dog and adopts him. More on that in a second but first his ex wife shows up and you think she is going to be mad at him but he tells her a touching story about how his dad died and that makes her fall in love with him again and they do it. This scene was very touching to me when i was a kid because my own dad died to after he left us to serve in the special forces and i always knew that if a chick could see how sensitive i am about that then she would do it with me to.

The best part of this movie by far is when Gino Felino stabs Ritchie in the head with a corkscrew and you think that is all but then Gino Felino sees the man who threw the dog out of the station wagon and so he kicks him in the nutsack and the guy falls over and screams "Oh my balls!" and the dog pees right in his face. I totally forgot about that scene until it happened and it made me laugh just as hard as a grown up as it did when I was a kid.

This was my first Steven Seagal movie and is still the best I think. My dad had most of his movies on VHS in his library and this was the first one that i decided to watch when i was old enough. My mom says I must have watched it a hundred times. When I was in 1st grade i dressed up like Gino Felino every day for school in a black vest with no shirt under it and a green bandana hat.

The DVD version is even better than the old VHS tape and it only costs 9.99 on Amazon.com. That's way cheaper than what Blockbuster used to charge for movies and it is pretty much what they charge for used dvds at the cd store at the mall but one big difference is this DVD was bran new and it came to my house I did not have to drive to the mall. I am so glad I took my mom's advice and finally signed up for Amazon.com. Now I can get a DVD collektshun like my dad. By Steven.

ABOVE THE LAW DVD

By Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Do not F with this man.

Steven Seagal in this movie is Sargent Nico Toscani who is a genuwine American bad ass. He came from Japan where he used to teach a ninja school. Then he goes to Vietnam to stop drug-dealers but also finds out that the CIA boss Kirt Zagone is torturing them. Back in the days before terrorists it was wrong to torture the enemy so Sargent Nico Toscani almost kills Kirt Zagone before he heads back to Chicago to become a cop where finds out that his sexy cousin is in love with a pimp who also deals drugs. This movie has it all.

Then he goes to a church to help some priests help some immigrants but a bomb goes explodes and one of the priests is killed and somebody wants to kill his family to and also the police captain tells him that he is way out of line and is off the case. But if they think they can stop Sargent Nico Toscani then they do not no Sargent Nico Toscani. Now there is a deadly game of cat and mouse for CIA boss Kirt Zagone who also wants to asasenate

Senator Harris. There is only one thing that can stand in there way now and that is Sargent Nico Toscani. So they kidnap him and drug and tie him to a chair but he was only playing possum because he jumps up and takes there guns and shoots them all except for Kirt Zagone. Now he has something speshul for him first he breaks his arm and then he breaks his neck. And then he goes to Congress to tell the truth about it to everybody.

There are a lot of ways that you can think about this movie. Who is above the law? Is it the evil Kirt Zagone? Or is it by chance Sargent Nico Toscani himself who is not afraid to hurt and basically also kill anyone who tries to stop him from getting justice. Or maybe they are both above the law at the same time. Or maybe it is that nobody is above the law because there's really no such thing as laws at least not for people like Kirt or Sargent Nico Toscani or the drug dealers or the mob or even the illegal immigrants to. The best part is when some Mexican gang guys attack him with a machete and he takes the machete and hacks up. This is a reality for police every day and why we honor and respect them This is a DVD which means it will last FOREVER. For less than ten dollars on Amazon.com that is a steal. Do yourself a favor and by this DVD for your libary today. By Steven

CHAPTER 3

THE GLIMMER MAN DVD

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Vilents is never the answer until it is.

Steven Seagal is Lutenant Jack Cole aka The Glimmer Man. Why do they call him The Glimmer Man? Well for the answer to that question you would have to go all the way back to the jungles of Vietnam when he was a CIA mersinary. According to legend all you would see is a glimmer in the jungle and then you would be dead! Wow!

But that was a long time ago. Now Lutenant Jack Cole is a cop in NYC but he is also a budist monk who does not believe in vilents and will not fight people. He goes to Los Angeles to be partners with a funny black cop who is trying to stop a cereal killer called THE FAMILY MAN because he murders the families and nails them to the walls like Jesus. Trust me this is brutal stuff and not for kids today even if we all watched this stuff when we were kids and we still turned out okay except for people like my nayber Randall who did not.

Also the Russian mob is going to by some nukes from the CIA and once they learn that The Glimmer Man is on the case they will stop at nothing to stop him. Yes, that means even murdering his exwife and nailing her to the wall like Jesus to. Oh great now everybody suspects Lutenant Jack Cole of being the Family Man murderer because who else would want to kill Lutenant Jack Coles exwife?

There are a lot of classic seens in this movie. One time the Russian mob wants to murder Lutenant Jack Cole and he explains how he cant fight them back because he is a budist monk now but that was just a trick because then he pulls out a razor blade that is hidden inside of an plain old regular credit card and he uses it to slash all there throats and faces like was swiping a credit card machine to by stuff. Then he kicks a guy off a building and the guy gets his hole body stabbed onto a bulldozer scooper witch is something i have literally wanted to see since the first time i saw a bulldozer. He stabs a guy in the dick when they fight in a restaraunt and at the end he chokes the final bad guy and throws him out of a window where he gets his face stabbed off by a fence.

All of that action is great but what is most important is the message witch is vilents is never the answer until someone pushes you over the line and then vilents IS the answer. And when that time comes you will learn much like Lunteneent Jack Cole that vilents is not just an answer, it is THE ONLY ANSWER. Sometimes you have to fight fire with fire. By Steven

SLIM JIM GIANT SMOKED MEAT STICK, ORIGINAL FLAVOR (PACK OF 24)

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This is the taste of America

If you are like me then beef jerky is your top number one favorite snack food of all times and Slim Jim makes the best one in america. It is great on the go meat candy that is what i like to call it. However if you are a beef jerky lover than you understand the problem of hi cost. A single giant smoked meat stick from Slim Jim costs 3 dollars at the gas station and they are a little cheaper at the Food City but even with the employee discount they still cost 2.27 and we are still just talking about Slim Jims not those boogie jack links kippered beef steak jerkies that cost five dollars just for one stick. Simply put beef jerky wile delishus is not cheap.

That is why I was very happy to discover that in addition to selling DVD disks, Amazon.com also sells beef jerky. And just like the prices on there DVD disks, the prices on beef jerky are so much better than you would find at any other store. You can get 24 giant smoked meat sticks for 18.29, which comes out to less than one dollar for each giant smoked meat stick. If I bought that same number of giant smoked meat sticks at Food City it would be more than FIFTY BUCKS and that is even with my so called employee discount. And they wonder why people quit shopping at Food City except for people on foodstamps and don't have a car so they cant drive to a better store. Because the place is a dump and a ripoff. From now on, I will only get my jerky from one place: Amazon.com. Thank you Amazon! STEP INTO A SLIM JIM By Steven

MOUNTAIN DEW BAJA BLAST - 24 PACK

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This is for my mom

Baja Blast is my mom's favorite flavor of Mountain Dew however it is not always there at my local Food City store witch is a total dump. So in the old days when my mom needed more Baja Blast and the Food City where I work did not have any sometimes I had to drive my Ford Festiva to three different stores 30 miles away and it would take all day. But now with Amazon.com the Baja Blast comes to me. You can get these 36 cans for almost 40 dollars witch is not as good savings as with beef jerky and DVD disks but you have to remember that coke cans way more and cost more to ship to your house. But you really save money when you ad up the time and gas you save not driving all over the state to find witch stores actually have Baja Blast on the shelves. its the little things that make life worth living. ### BH SUPPLIES INSULIN SYRINGES U-100 31MG 1ML/ CC (PACK OF 100)

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Amazon does it again!

My mom has mobility issues so it can be hard for her to get up or get into the car and shop in stores for her own stuff. That is why I started getting her Mountain Dew Baja Blast with on Amazon.com so I did not have to drive around all day after work to find it but then I saw I could get some of the other stuff she needs to. These same syringes were 22 bucks at Walgreens. They are only 16 dollars on Amazon.com. And they bring it to my doorstep which is a no brainer. Less time shopping means more time doing things I love like watching movies. By Steven.

CHAPTER 7

ON DEADLY GROUND DVD

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ What does it take to change the essence of a man?

Steven Seagal is Forrest Taft a man who is a take no prisoners bad ass firefighter in Alaska with a state that we no for snow and eskimos but also for oil. Forrest Taft puts out a fire at a oil thing and then heads to a bar to kick some ass and after kicking this one guys ass asks him this very important question What does it take to change the essence of a man? Before you blurt out the first answer that comes to mind consider the rest of this film review first.

There is an evil man his name is Michael Jennings and he runs the oil company in Alaska where the fires keep happening. It turns out this is because he is using cheap parts to save a buck and he does not care about his employees. There is a man named Palmer who has all the evidents on a computer disk but before he can give it to Forrest Taft bad guys smash off his fingers and stab him in the nutsack and also strangle him to death. But do they recover the computer disk? No they do not.

Meanwhile Michael Jennings wants to kill Forrest Taft so he is like hey I need you to help put out a fire at this distant oil thing and of course Forrest Taft goes but it is a set up and the oil thing explodes and it almost kills Forrest Taft. I say almost dead because everyone thinks he is dead but then some eskimos save him and bring him back to life with the spirit of a bear witch is maybe this weird dream but whatever the point is Forrest Taft is back and he is ready to kick ass. So he takes his sexy eskimo to Palmer's house and gets that secret computer disk with all the evidents. He also rides a snowmobeel. Then he gets Michale Jennings and hangs up upside down by a cable and then shoots the cable so he falls and breaks his neck. Great!

This is the point in a normal movie like Out For Justice when a dog would pee in some guys face and we can all have a good laugh when the credits roll. But On Deadly Ground is not like other movies and after the hero kills the bad guys Forrest Taft then goes to Washington D.C. to deliver a speech to Congress on some issues that are very personally important to him and yes he even brings the eskimos to.

Now I want to first say that I am not a racist and I do not have any problems with eskimos. In fact to the contrary I think Indians are extremely cool in much the same way karate masters from China are cool and i defanately like sexy girl eskimos like that one in this movie. What I do have a problem with is Hollywood making Steven Seagal give a speech about how gas powered cars are bad and we should all by new electric cars like hippys. Excuse me but dear Hollywood please keep your politics out of everything! As a fan of these films I want to see people get there fingers smashed off and their nustacks stabbed and there necks broken but I DO NOT want to hear speeches about how cars are oil and cars are so bad.

Oh yeah an in case you were wondering what it takes to change the essence of a man... the answer is THE TIME TO CHANGE. By Steven.

Hidden Valley Original Ranch 1.25 Ounce Individual Cups (Pack of 160)

Steven P. Felcher

★ The taste of betrayal.

If you are like me then theres nothing that improves the flavor of a Slim Jim beef jerky like some cool and creamy Hidden Valley Ranch Dressing. Together this is the perfect proteen packed snack for anyone on the go. But if you are on the go then its not like you can carry around a bottle of salad dressing everywhere you go because once you open the bottle it is no longer shelf stable and you have to keep it in the refrigerator. So back when Food City used to staff the break room with condiments, I would load up my fanny pack with these little individual cups of Hidden Valley Ranch. But then they stopped putting condiments in the break room to save money so I had to find another way to get some. Then I was like duh Amazon it has everything else so why not search for those cups of Hidden Valley Ranch dressing. Bingo. 160 cups for 85 dollars witch is not as cheap as the free ones i used to get that's for sure but if you can come up with another way to keep your jerky ranch cool when you are on the go running errands for my mom or at work then I would love to hear it.

So why the one star review? Well that is because even though I love Hidden Valley Ranch dressing these 160 cups that I purchased DID NOT ARRIVE! Amazon.com said that they were delivered and my mother said she did hear someone on the porch but by the time she got up from the sofa and made it to the front door there was nobody there including my 160 cups o Hidden Valley Ranch dressing. So now I am literally stopping at Hardees to stuff a few kastup packets into my fanny pack so I can at least have some kind of condiment to enjoy on my jerky wile I work. I have officially loged a complaint with Amazon.com and will boykot them until I get my ranch. By steven.

Hidden Valley Original Ranch 1.25 Ounce

Individual Cups (Pack of 160) Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ REVISED REVIEW - everything is okay dont worry!

Hi this is Steven I would like to ofishuly withdraw my one star review of this product and change it to 5 stars. I am very happy with how Amazon product support fixed this for me.

My first order of 160 cups of Hidden Valley Ranch Dressing were delivered like the mailman said they were and I would like to also ofishuly like to apologize for the things I said to him. He told me to f off and left then I happened to see my nayber Randall enjoying a Doritos and dipping them in a cup of Hidden Valley Ranch Dressing. He said it was his ranch dressing but I got him confess. Then he tried to say he only took it because he did not want it to spoil in the sun wile I was at work but then i said out how would he even no what was in the box and that it would spoil in the sun if he didn't steal it and open it first? He admitted that he did steal it and he gave me back all the cups of Hidden Valley Ranch Dressing that he did not already eat. So now when you also count 160 replacement cups that Amazon.com sent me I have 218 cups. I still have no idea how my nayber Randall ate 22 cups of Hidden Valley Ranch dressing in the six hours it took me to get home from Food City but it all worked out for the best. By Steven.

HARD TO KILL DVD

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This movie makes me miss my dad.

Steven Seagal is the man they call Mason Storm who is a man who I can relate to on a very personal level because much like Mason Storm I am a man who has had to deal with injustice. In the case of Mason Storm his wife and child were murdered while in my case my neighbor Randall stole my 160 cups of Hidden Valley Ranch Dressing. But that's pretty much where the similarities between me and Mason Storm end.

Unlike me Mason Storm has spent years studying martial arts from the greatest masters in Asia and as we quickly realize shotguns are no match for the way Mason Storm can grab them and flip somebody's wrist and make them shoot themselves. He can also break every bone in your body with karate pressure points. He does this at the convenience store and twists a guy's leg until it breaks. Then he goes home and some crooked cops shotgun him into a coma because he has a VHS tape that proves they killed the senator. Terrible!

When Mason Storm finally wakes up from his coma after seven years he finds out several important things first that his wife is dead and second that his nurse is very sexy and they do it. Third the mob and the dirty cops are going to come try to kill him again because they never found that VHS tape with the evidents that they killed the senator.

Mason Storm and the sexy nurse run away together and she takes care of him while he learns to be strong and fight again. Then there is a ray of sunshine in his life because he finds out that his dead son is actually not dead and is alive and that his good cop friend named Omalley has been raising him this whole time. Great.

Then Mason Stone finds one of the guys who killed his wife and stabs him in the neck with a pool cue and says "Fuck you Die!" Then he strangles this dude with his own necktie which is very very awesome. However before Mason Stone can kill the evil Senator Vernon Trent the police arrive to say they watched the VHS tape and they know that Mason Stone is the good guy again. Vernon Trent it is all over for you my friend.

My mom says that this was my dad's number one favorite Steven Seagal movie of all time. I remember watching it with him and how hard he would laugh at all the best parts like when he twists that guys ankle until it breaks all his leg bones and seeing it again now that i am an adult it really takes me back. Love you dad the world is safer because of heroes like you and Mason Storm. By Steven.

Blackstone Tactical Spandex Undergarment With Concealed Carry Holster

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This is some very nice underwear

My job makes me spend a lot of time on my feet lifting and squatting and hustling and in whats more i also happen to be a man that is what my mother calls husky in bonal structure. For this reason i can often get the problem of chafing thighs. The skin turns red and blisters and it gets so sore that it it hurts to bad to walk. wile telling this problem to one of my coworkers in the break room he said I should get high grade tactical underwear. I thought that tactical gear was just for the army but it turns out you can by all kinds of tactical gear that the army uses from Amazon.com.

I am happy to report that this product is great for helping my chafing thighs. It would make sinceto me that the army would know how to solve the problem of chafing thighs because they always have to fight int he jungle or the desert where it gets HOT. You can not kill terrorists if your thighs are to chafed to walk.

This is the kind of underwear that does not slip down or bunch up around the nutsack leaving the thighs bare for the chafing. These underwear stay down on your legs to protect them. Also the tactical fabric helps wisk sweat away so your thighs are nice and dry. As an added bonus these tactical underwears also come with a holster right in the waistband for people who need to carry a gun. I dont have a gun so its pretty much useless to me but I do think that its cool and if the day one day comes when I actually have a gun its nice to know that i already have a place to put it in my underwear.

Yes I must admint that it is true that this product is more expensive than your run on the mill underwear but i can tell you that after just one day on the job i plan on saving a little from every paycheck to by more until I have replaced all my regular underwear with tactical underwear. ## Fruit of the Loom Women's Plus Sized "Fit For Me"

5 Pack Cotton Panties Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ The quickest and easiest way to by panties for your mom

The other day I used this website to by some quality tactical underwear to stop my chafing in the thighs area. That gave me the good idea that I could also use this website to get the underwear I need to get for my mom who has mobility issues because she is so obeece.

I am happy to report that my mom loved this Fruit of the Loom 5 Pack and unlike shopping at Walmart it is no problem to find speshulty sizes like 6X. As an added bonus I no longer have to shop in the womens underwear department like a creep and ask the salesgirls all the list of questions my mom gave me about speshulty sizes. Now I can by her underwear on the computer and have it show up in my mailbox no questions asked. Great time to be alive. By Steven.

CHAPTER 13

4 Film Favorites: Steven Seagal (Above the Law, Fire Down Below, The Glimmer Man, Under Siege)

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Amazon does it again!

So the other day I bought myself some tactical underwear which made me consider buying my mother's specialty size underwear online which was available in a six pack that saved me way more money than buying them one at a time. And that got me thinking about Steven Seagal and my library of Steven Seagal DVD disks.

It turns out that much like specialty sized women's underwear Amazon.com lets you get Steven Seagal movies in bulk too. This DVD combo pack includes Four YES FOUR complete Steven Seagal movies for only $7.50. That's so much cheaper than buying them one at a time. And compared to getting these DVD disks individually at the mall or even the Walmart? Get out of here there is literally no way to compare them. These four movies would cost me almost a hundred bucks if I bought them new at the mall.

And yes it is true I already own copies of The Glimmer Man and Above the Law in my library but I really wanted to by Under Siege and it actually ended up being cheaper to by Glimmer Man and Above the Law again in this 4 Film combo pack then to by Under Siege just by itself. Plus I also get a copy of Fire Down Below witch I know I would want to also by at some point anyways. What do you call that? A win win.

I have already written my full review of the DVD disks for Above the Law and The Glimmer Man so I do not need to talk about there quality once again. In Fire Down Below Steven Seagal is Jack Taggart the EPA agent who also is a karate master. Those karate skills are useful when his partner is murdered and by now it is very clear being Steven Seagals partner is the most dangerous job ever and so Jack Taggart has to travel to backwoods countryass Kentucky to get revenge on the evil company that is dumping into the enviroment.

I gotta be honest I dont really care about the enviroment or hillbillies except for that one hot blonde one but there is a lot of action in this movie and thats what counts. The action isnt as brutal or bloody as some of the early days but there is way more punching people in the dick and kicking in the nutsacks. So if you like seeing dicks get punched or nutsacks get kicked then this my friend is the Steven Seagal movie for you.

But I must say the real reason I was excited to by this DVD movie library is to get my own copy of Under Siege witch is quite possibly the most famous and beloved if not the most brutal of all Steven Seagal movies. He is Casey Ryback and even though he is a completely bad assed CIA karate expert, he has to work as just the chef on a Navy warship. Thats because he has a real problem with authority much like myself witch my mom says i take after my dad. When this one bad guy navy officer spits in the soup he is cooking Casey Ryback kicks his ass witch is great but as we soon learn that is also a mistake because he just assalted an officer so he is locked in the freezer until he can be sent to jail after they have this big party on the boat.

But before that happens the evil Bill Strannix gets there and some of the solders who are traitors and together they hijack the whole damn ship. Now there is only one thing standing in his way and you gessed it that would be Casey Ryback the cook. Basically he has to break out of the freezer and one by one kill all the bad guys and save the ship and prevent a newklear hollowcost but no sweat it is all in a days work for Casey Ryback and Jordan Tate who is the Playboy Playmate who is also his sidekick for this adventure. In the end he gets to rip Strannixs eyeball out and stab him thru the top of the skull. That my friend is what you call justice.

I dont know what it is but there is just something magical about this particular Steven Seagal movie. It doesnt have the most brutal fight scenes except for the eyeball popping out skull stabbing part. And it is not the funniest as we all know Out for Justice earns that title with the nutsack kicking and dog pissing in the face seen. But Under Siege is just quality from start to finish. It does not feel like a usual Steven Seagal movie instead it feels more like a Bruce Willis or Arnold Shwartzsenager movie but with Steven Seagal instead. Whatever I dont know how to explain it exactly but if you see it once you will know exactly what I mean. My mom says he is the sexiest in this one but it is werd to here your mom talk about doing it. By Steven.

Best of the Price is Right DVD Collection (26 Classic Episodes)

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★ This one is for mom.

I purchased this DVD set as a gift for my mother on Mothers Day. She loves game shows espeshully the Price Is Right with Bob Barker and espeshully watching reruns of episodes she has already seen because then she can already know the answers. This DVD is with 26 episodes from the hole history of The Price is Right and it has 26 episodes on 3 DVD disks and it is almost 16 hours long. That is a lot of bang for your buck but it is still pretty expensive for DVD disks. I usually by my DVD disks new but this set costs over a hundred dollars if you by it new so for the first time I decided to by the used version witch is also on Amazon. com for a much cheaper price. But it did skip a few times witch is still better than DVD disks you get from the used CD store in the mall but not as good as new ones from walmart that are to expensive.

This set includes the last week of episodes that Bob Barker taped before he finally left and let me tell you as someone who has a mother who loves the Price is Right that really means a lot to her. She cried first when i gave her this present and cried again when she watched that last episode. At first my mom was excited to watch a lot of the episodes from when I was a baby and she watched this show every single day with me when it was just us because my dad had to leave for the speshul forces. But the bad news is other than that last week of shows there are not any episodes from Bob Barker but lots of other hosts from before him. I asked my mom if that was okay or if I should send it back because she looked kinda sad when it was mostly other hosts that are not Bob Barker and she said no she loves the present anyways. If you like Plinko then this is the product for you. By Steven.

Under Armor Adult Tactical Heat Gear Boot Socks 1 Pair

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Say goodbye to sweaty feet with these tactical military grade socks.

Remember when I used to have that problem with sweaty chafing thighs? Me neither thats because that problem was gone the moment I got my tactical military grade underwear. So when Amazon.com suggested that I by tactical military grade socks to I was very thankful and happy to say okay and click the by button.

My job forces me to spend a lot of time on my feet and that means sweaty socks. Sometimes they smell so bad my mom puts them on the front porch until its lawndry day so the hole house does not smell like them. But these new tactical military grade socks can keep soldiers feet safe and dry even in jungle and desert. Thats true for the middle east and nam and also for Food City to where I am happy to report my foot sweat has been wisked away by microfibers that keeps me dry and ready for action When

I first put them on they seemed a little tight but that actually is because they have something called compreshun and it turns out that features actually helped some foot pain I have in the bottoms of my feet.

Yes I will admit 12 dollars is a lot for 2 socks. If you are used to shopping at Walmart you know that you can get a lot of socks for 12 bucks. But you get what you pay for. Once I finish replacing my underwear with tactical military grade underwear I will begin replacing all my socks to. By steven.

CHAPTER 16

4 Film Favorites: Steven Seagal (Exit Wounds, Hard to Kill, On Deadly Ground, Out for Justice)

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ At these prices I would be an idiot to not by these movies!

Four movies on to DVD disks for only 7 bucks. How does Amazon do it? This is a golden age to be a movie lover. This set has 4 movies on to DVD disks. I already have three of these movies (Hard to Kill, On Deadly Ground, and Out for Justice) but I still needed a copy of Exit Wounds for my library so I figured since it is cheaper I may as well go ahead and get back up copies of the movies I already have. Who knows maybe I will lose or break one or I could trade them to my nayber Randall for whatever broken thing he found and fixed. I used to could sell the used ones at the used store in the mall but they closed and the only people who go to the mall anyways are just old people who walk in circles.

I already reviewed three of these four movies and so I will now focus this review on the one I have not yet reviewed. That one is EXIT WOUNDS. In this movie Steven Seagal is Orin Boyd who is a Detroit cop who may have to break a few rules and bust a few heads but who always gets the bad guys and always fights for one thing and that thing that is called justice.

It starts when a whole bunch of fake cops try to assassinate the Vice President of the United States and Orin Boyd kills them all and saves the Vice President but the captain thinks he is a wild card and punishes Orin Boyd by sending him to be a traffic cop in the worst city in the whole world which is Detroit. This is a city where everybody is bad even the cops. There is this one awesome part when a bunch of cops in the locker room taze each other and next thing you know Orin Boyd has to prove he is tough enough by tazing himself. Spoiler alert he does it.

Also he goes to anger management classes with Tom Arnold and the rapper DMX who plays a criminal but also an internet ecommerce pioneer who has a website much like Amazon.com but where everything only costs $9.99. This seems like a great idea just as long as they only sell things that would normally cost at least ten dollars. But all that internet stuff is not what's most important no that of course is the action and that is where this movie delivers the goods. Machine guns? Yes. Explosions. Try and count them. Karate? Yes.. Karate in solomotion? Get ready for a lot of that. Also if you like rap music which I don't but if you do this movie is for you. By Steven. 0 people found this helpful

Herrangel Tactical Headset with Arc Rail Adapter Hearing Protection

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ These are the coolest looking headphones on the market.

I needed some quality headphones because my mother has been complaining that my movies are too loud at night but now that there aren't as many morning shifts at Food City I like to stay up late and watch movies from my library.

At 120 dollars these headphones are more expensive than what I am used to paying for headphones but I had excellent experiences so far when it comes to tactical products so I said what the heck and got them. And boy am I glad that I did. First of all as I said these headphones look so awesome.

These headphones have a microphone for talking with your platoon on the battlefield or if you play airsoft or even if you play games online. I do not wish means the microphone does not add much for me personally other than it looks cool and who knows one day I might get into more hobbies where it would become useful and i am already prepared. Plus I am not going to lie it is pretty fun to put on a movie and pretend like i am riding along with Steven Seagal if he is on a mission. Over and out buddy I got your back Steven. By Steven.

CHAPTER 18

Men's Assault Tactical Combat Long Short

Sleeve Outdoor T-Shirt Steven P. Felcher

★ Is this shirt making fun of me?!

I had nothing but wonderful experiences getting tactical gear over Amazon.com so when they suggested I consider getting some tactical T-shirts at first I was like well 30 bucks really is a lot for a shirt but then I remembered how in the past I had said the same thing about other tactical products and up to that point at least all those experiences have been wonderful like I said. But this time no sir. Warning DOT NOT BY THIS ASSAULT TACTICAL COMBAT SHIRT!

First of all I must say I can not understand what actually makes this shirt tactical other than somebody put that word in the Amazon description. Yes it is camouflaged and that looks awesome but is that all? For example my tactical headphones have a microphone for communicating in tactical situations. My tactical underwear has a holster for all the tactical weapons I could one day get. But what is so tactical about this shirt?

I will tell you what it is. As a man who could be described as husky in bone structure, this shirt is TO TIGHT. Yes I considered my tactical socks to be tight but that's because they are compression socks that offer relief for foot pain from marching in boots or working at Food City. But does anyone want a shirt that fits like a compression sock? Not me and even though it says that it is slimming they do not tell you that you already have to be slim for it to make you more slim. In other words it can not make an unslim person slim just by putting it on and if anything it just makes them look fatter because it fits on you like a water balloon.

After checking the other one star reviews on Amazon.com I can see that I am in fact not the only person who has this problem with this shirt. There should be a warning on products like this to let people know if the pictures and descriptions do not tell the whole story about the product and how bad it is. I am especially angry because now is not a good time for me to be wasting 30 dollars on a T-shirt that doesn't work. They are closing my Food City and nobody has as many hours as they used to. # CHAPTER 19

Jerky Works Jerky Maker

Steven P. Felcher

★ I HATE this stupid piece of junk!

I feel like the makers of the Jerky Works Jerky Marker are intentionally praying on desperate people in need by lying about this product and laughing all the way to the bank. Some people like myself included have the need to cut corners wherever they can and also understand the problem that beef jerky prices are out of control. So when Amazon.com suggested I buy this product for only 20 dollars which promises to make beef jerky it seemed too good to be true. And you know what they say if it is too good to be true then you better not buy it. Where do I start? Well first of all while yes this thing does technically make beef jerky it doesn't make it out of thin air like the pictures make it seem. You have to put meat into this machine and that meat costs money. So you have to buy steak to make beef jerky and you still have to drive to the grocery store to get it. Read the fine print is all I can say.

Second, it only makes a tiny bit of beef jerky at a time. So if you expect that owning a beef jerky machine will mean you are swimming in jerky and can enjoy it whenever you want well think again my friend. Maybe if you had twenty of these machines running at the same time but then youd spend a fortune on jerky machines and the meat to fuel them.

Third this thing is hard to clean but you have to clean it because its full of meat and you dont want to get sick. So all that taking it apart and cleaning and drying it and then putting it back together is time you can not be making jerky. And you need a lot of time to make jerky because this dumb machine is SLOW. If you want some jerky you better make plans a week in advance.

Finally it is also a cheap piece of junk that will break as soon as you bang it on the kitchen counter because you are mad at it. Now that I look back I used to have it pretty good at Food City I could do what I wanted and I got free ranch dressing packets and maybe I didnt make enough money to have a house of my own or a pontoon boat but i could by pretty much whatever movies and tactical gear I wanted from Amazon.com. Now I have to get another job but pretty much everywhere except Walmart is closed and I would rather sell my soul to the devil than work at Walmart again. By Steven.

Jacob Alexander Uniform Solid Clip-On Tie

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This product saved my butt and opened a new world of entertainment

This tie is great. If you need a tie for instance to be as profeshunal as possible at a job interview but you do not know how to tie a real tie then you can use this clip-on tie to make it much easier. My dad had a few ties left that my mom said I could wear if I didnt mess them up but I did not know how to tie it and she did not either. Because I needed this clip-on tie in an extreme hurry I signed up for Amazon Prime and I am happy to report that this product arrived as promised the next day. And now that I have Amazon Prime I am now able to stream unlimited movies on my computer and TV. I guess I do not have to by all my favorite movies on DVD anymore because I can just stream them for free thanks to Amazon Prime and not have a library. I traded the old DVD disks to my nayber Randal for some nunchucks he made from an old bike. By steven.

Merrell Men's Moab 2 Tactical Waterproof Military Boots

Seven Felcher

★★★★★ These boots are like 2 little limoseens for my feet.

After my bad experneice with a “slimming” Tactical shirt, I was slitley afraid to invest more money into tactical gear when it came time to get new hiking boots for my new job in the tek industry. However my employer paid me the money to get these shoes so I decided what the hay all my other tactical gear has been excellent.

Well I am happy to report that these tactical boots have restored my faith in the word tactical. The minute i laced them up I knew my feet were in heaven. That is very important because in my new role I will be required to be on my feet a lot and even though that is nothing new to me because of my experneice in the grocery industry. I have been walking laps around my house over and over again to test them out and make sure they are up to the job and you better believe they are just like me. By Steven.

Pistol Whipped

I just signed up for Amazon Prime and now I can stream so many movies including all these Steven Seagal movies that are new and I do not remember from being in the movie theater or my dads library of VHS tapes and since i am excited about starting my new job and i can not sleep i figured hey this is a good nite to pick a new movie. There were so many to watch and I have never heard of any of them and so I decided to pick the one with the best name. That name was Pistol Whipped.

Steven Seagal is Matt Connor a man who is not really what you think of when you say the words Good Guy. Thats because he drinks to much and is a gambler and a crooked cop who left the force and lost his wife and his daughter.

So then some mistereus guys find him and give him a bunch of money to kill this other guy so he does it. Then he has to kill another guy but this time the target is actually his exwifes new husband. As a man of honor he can not do this so he tells Steve the exwifes husband who is also his old partner on the force how he was hired to kill him but it turns out that Steve was a bad guy and Matt Connor should have killed him when he had the chance because while Matt Connor is confronting the mysterious old man who hired him to do the killing Steve goes to Matt Connors church and murders his priest. When Matt Connor finds the dead body he will stop at nothing to kill the person who killed his priest and that person you guessed it is Steve?

This leads to two big amazing shootouts. The first one is in a street and the second one is in a cemetery where Matt Connors preacher is being barred. Steve kidnaps Matt Connors daughter and Matt Connor must also save her from the shootout in the cemetery. He does. It is awesome. In the end he shoots Steve but while he is still alive he stuffs him in the back of a car and shoots the cars gas tank leading it to explode and burn Steve to death.

Obviously there is a lot to like about this movie. There is great action with guns and also the karate you would come to expect from a Steven Seagal movie including that one move where people come at him and he steps to the side and twists their wrists and makes them flip over and shoot themselves. That kind of thing never gets old. However over all the movie does not look as normal as some of the old ones. Obviously Steven Seagal is older and so he is a little bit more husky in his bone structure. But some stuff was a little weird or confusing like an old timey bowling alley and this microchip thing that he hides inside of a quarter or a tree branch why i dont know. Also the name Matt Connor is not as cool as the old names like Gino Felino or Nico Toscani but that is a small problem and this really still is a good movie on Amazon Prime. Do yourself a favor and watch it today. By steven.

TODAY YOU DIE

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This movie really made me think.

Steven Seagal is Harlan Banks who is one of the worlds greatest theefs but unlike most theefs when he steals money he gives it to poor people. He is a bad guy with a heart of gold. Also he has a wife can see into the future and predick some things and she thinks it is time for him to get out of the business. And so after one last job goes horibley wrong and he has to murder a bunch of people Harlan Banks decides she is right and they decide to move to Los Vegas so he can become an armored car driver and then on the way there they pass a hospital for kids and it is going out of business. Harlan Banks sees the sign that says going out of business and you can see that he really cares and wants to do something to help them. I will tell you more about this hospital at the end.

So then he gets that armored car and for some reason his partner Bruno goes crazy and starts shooting some cops and then there is an extremely bad ass car chase as the cops chase the armored car thru Vegas and at one point a camper truck explodes and a cop car flips over. Great. I love it.

But after that chase Harlan Banks is arrested and sent to jail where everyone wants to beat him up so they can know where the money is. What money you ask? Well that is the 20 million dollars that went missing from the armored car after the car chase. Ice Kool is a rapper in jail and he takes them away on a helicopter to get revenge on Max because he has the money and he set them up I think.

But then there is a twist where you find out Harlan actually did steal all that money and that was his plan all along. Remember when he saw that hospital for children that was going out of business? Well that is what Harlan actually did with the 20 million dollars. I told you i would explain that more at the end and now I have.

So is stealing and killing people bad? I guess so but you also must consider the good Harlan did for the world by stealing and killing a lot of people to help those dying children. What is worse smashing some cars and killing max and his body guards or letting all those innocent kids die because there is no hospital? To be honest I just wanted to watch Steven Seagal break some peeples bones and stab them because I am so tired after my first day at my new job that i can not do anything else. I was not really prepared to ask hard questions about life and death and justice. Still this movie is great. He wears a lot of long coats in this movie and it made me think I should probly get a long coat to because it seems to be actually slimming unlike my tactical shirt. By Steven.

Men's Vintage Classic WW2 Officer Black

Leather Military Trench Coat Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This is probly the coolest thing I have ever owned

I got my first paycheck from working in the tek industry and I wanted to by myself something speshul as a treat so I wanted to by a long jacket much like those worn by Steven Seagal in some of the new movies and so I searched Amazon Prime for tactical jackets because I had mostly great experneices bying clothing that is officially tactical gear from Amazon. And then I found this jacket witch is a long trench coat and is also a military style from WW2. And let me tell you it is awesome. I literally can not believe it was only 50 bucks and that it came for free in the mail the next day. My mom could literally not believe her eyes when I tried it on to show her. It has a pocket that is perfect to hold my nunchucks. Sometimes life can be hard and work can be exosting but if you want to have the finer things in life then you have to be prepared to work hard. This jacket proves to me that hard work is worth it. My only wish is that i could wear it at work but that is not allowed with the dress code and anyways it would be to hot with all the walking I have to do. But when i get home to watch some movies

I crank the AC and put this baby on. By steven.

★ I DO NOT approve of this movie.

I went to Amazon Prime to watch a movie on streaming and it suggested this movie with Denis Rodman and Jean Claude Van Damme. I would give this zero stars if I could. I did not see this movie but I do not approve of it and I do not want Amazon Prime to force it down my throat. No thank you. By Steven.

CHAPTER 29

Born To Raise Hell

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This movie is NOT false advertising.

Steven Seagal is Bobby Samuels who is a government agent who is literally born to raise hell and this makes him public enemy number one of the terrorists who hate our freedom. Bobby Samuels has a new partner because his last partner got killed and his new partner is named Steve and he is about to have a baby with his wife back home after they finish busting these drug dealers. Good luck to you Steve.

They go to bust one drug dealer and he jumps on a motorcycle and busts thru the window and escapes. Wow this is great. Next Bobby Sameuls needs to catch another drug dealer who is an old Russian his name is Dimitri. So in order to catch him they arrest some guy to be an informant and send him to Dimitiri. But Dimitri knows this guy is an informant and Bobby Sameuls has to come rescue him. That means dishing out American justice with his fists and his feet. Classic Seagal stuff right here folks.

Lots of grabbing guys by the wrists and flipping them over and throwing them into stuff. So next Bobby Samuels arrests Dimitri but Dimitri smashes his own head thru the back of the police car window and frames Bobby Samuels for police brutality. I have to be honest I am so tired from being at work at my new job that I fell asleep for a little bit in the middle of this movie and do not remember what happened. But once the sounds got loud again it woke me up for the big climactic fight between Bobby Samuels and a drug dealer named Costel. They fight mano a mano and Bobby Samuels absolutely destroys him. He snaps his bones and bends his knees and elbow backwards until he finally surrenders but he is only faking so he can try and kill Bobby Samuels but that only makes it okay for Bobby Samuels to pull his gun and shoot his head off without being the bad guy. Oh yeah and Steve his partner got killed at some point probably when I was sleeping so that made this final fight very personal for Bobby Samuels I guess.

There is so much to like about this movie but on a very personal level I like it because Bobby Samuels wears a long black leather trench coat the whole time much like the one I now own. There I was wearing the same jacket while I was watching the movie with my tactical headphones on and I suddenly realized me and Bobby Samuels looked like twins! I can't believe I can watch this and so many other movies totally for free whenever I want to on Amazon Prime aka the best choice I ever made in my life. By Steven.

Footgel Military and Police Tactical Insoles

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ All I can say is WOW!

My new job in the tek industry requires me to spend a lot of time on my feet moving and hustling and carrying things and for someone who is husky in bonal structure this can put a lot of ware and tare on your feet. I am not the only one at my new job who suffers from foot pain when my manager Susan told me to get some quality insoles to improve my work experneices I did exactly what she said.

I have got many tactical grade products in the past such as underwear and socks and once again the military has delivered the goods for all of us. As soon as I put these insoles into my shoes and then put my feet into my shoes on top of the insoles to walk on them I new they were the most comfortable my feet have ever been. I can not wait to get back to work now and show everbody what I am made of. By Steven.

Force of Execution

Steven P. Felcher

★★★ A good movie but not really a Steven Seagal movie

Steven Seagal is John Alexander a guy who is notorious mob boss who is mysterious and wears sunglasses and goatee beard. He has a lot of guns and a lot of money and a lot of power. But is he the hero? I don't know but maybe not everything has to have a hero. Maybe he can just be somebody who kills a bunch of people just because it's cool.

At the beginning he hires Roman his assassin to pretend to be a guard and sneak into prison to assassinate somebody. So he does and it's pretty awesome. He climbs walls and jumps and does flips and honestly it's the best martial arts I have seen in a while. But in a twist it turns out that he killed the wrong guy like an idiot and must pay the price. John Alexander and his men torture Roman they strap him to a chair and beat him to death almost. It is extremely brutal but also kind of sad because usually the person getting tortured is a bad guy but Roman isn't really bad so it makes John Alexander actually seem kind of bad for torturing him even though it is brutal and that makes it fun still.

Then Ice Man wants to kill John Alexander and be the top gangster in town and so they attack him at dinner but then Roman comes back saves him and they fight side by side together now. I fell asleep for a little bit but somebody gets there hand bit by a scorpion and turns into a super ninja and then this guy gets stabbed to death.

At the end it turns out that Ice Man has John Alexanders daughter kidnapped and he has to save her they have a mexican stand of and John Alexander shoots him and saves his daughter witch is defanatley a happy ending for him but I still do not know if that makes him the hero or even a good guy. I dont know maybe that is the point and I guess is interesting if you think about it but if you are looking for a regular Steven Seagal movie where he is a good guy who has to kill bad guys to be the hero well this is not really that kind of movie. Also he is not even really in the movie that much. This is not a Steven Seagal movie really but more like a movie that also has Steven Seagal in it witch is fine if that is what you want but that is not really what I wanted. Also he does more shooting than karate in this one and I like the ones with karate better. Also John Alexander is not a good name for a mob boss but I do not want to sound like sour grapes it is still a pretty awesome movie and it is free on Amazon Prime so its not like you loose anything by watching it. By Steven.

Rite Aid Acetaminophen 500 mg 500 Caplets Joint and Muscle Pain Relief Pills

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ These pills are a life saver

Oh man I must be getting old but also it is the fact that I work on my feet all day and I really push myself to the max to do the best I can because for once i have a good job. But yes that sadly does mean that I have pains and aches in my back and my legs and shoulders now more than ever. I used to get some medicine like this every now and then at the gas station on the way home but much like Steven Seagal DVD disks and beef jerky and panties for my mom it is much cheaper if you purchase in bulk online. So that is why I decided to by this product and I am pleased to report that I can get the same level of pain relief but now for a much much cheaper price than as I said compared to the individual packets you get at the gas station and if you look at it a certain way I am actually saving money to take more pills. Thanks to Amazon Prime I no longer have so much pain wile I am working. By Steven.

CHAPTER 33

Maximum Conviction DVD

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This would be five stars if it had more Steven Seagal

Steven Seagal is Cross and Stone Cold Steve Austin is Manning and they both work at a jail in this action extravaganza motion picture. Yes you heard me correct Steven Seagal and Stone Cold Steve Austin the wrestler star in one movie together and thankfully none of them is the bad guy. There is a bad guy but I dont think I ever heard his name.

There are a lot of bad guys actually. They break into a prison. Guess what this is the prison where Cross and Manning work and they are a great team. Cross does karate to beat up this prisoner who is bad meanwhile Manning works with garbage equipment and has to inspect a garbage truck that comes into the jail. But in a twist that they did not see coming that truck is really full of bad guys with guns who want to take over the prison.

Why do they want to take over the prison well because they want to capture one inmate. She is a girl who used to be a top secret government agent but went to jail and inside her heart she has a computer file stored that the bad guys want to get so they can steal 200 million dollars. But here is where it gets tricky if that girl dies than the computer file in her heart will be erased. So she must stay alive when they try and capture her. There is a great scene where they want to get the wardens fingerprints to open up the jails with his fingerscanner so they cut off his finger. It is a brutal torture scene.

First let me say that I am glad that unlike Force of Execution Steven Seagal does not play the bad guy. It is also great that his costar in this movie Stone Cold Steve Austin does not play a bad guy either because I like to cheer for my favorite stars when they get in fights in the movies and hope that they win. However because there are basically two good guys and like four bad guys there is a lot of time in this movie where you simply do not see Steven Seagal. So once again like Force of Execution it is kind of not a Steven Seagal movie but a regular movie that has a little Steven Seagal in it but I do say that it is better than Force of Execution by a lot. There is a lot of shooting in this movie which like but I wish there was more karate. The very end really delivers when Steven Seagal finally fights the bad guy I cant remember his name. He does the thing where he breaks all his bones in his hand and twists his wrists around and slams his face into a wall. So you absolutely get what you want to see but some of the older movies would have ten seems like this instead of just one or two. But hey it is free on Amazon Prime so i cant complain. It is just something to watch when you fall asleep after a long day. By Steven.

Mountain Dew Major Melon 12 12 Ounce cans

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ My mom said it was fruity and refreshing

One of the great things about my job working in the tek sektor at Amazon is that I can see lots of amazing products that other people are getting. And that was the case with this product Mountain Dew Major Melon flavor witch I did not even know existed before. I knew about Baja Blast but it turns out there are many other flavors as well and so I purchased some for my mother who loves Mountain Dew. She had never heard of Major Melon flavor either and really liked it a lot. She said it was fruity and refreshing and i agree I drank one on my porch so my nayber Randall could see and he was like whats that. When I told him he said he wanted to try one but I said no. ## OKS Katana Sword Real Rayskin Damascus Handmade Japanese Samurai Sword

★★★★★ This is the BEST THING I ever got.

In ancient Japan the samurai was the most respected warrior and as a symbol of there power they would use this the katana sword as there most elite weapon. Today I cary one because I have always wanted one and also because I finally have a job that pays me enough money to by the finer things for myself and my family.

When I decided witch Katana Sword to by I used the feature on Amazon to sort all of the swords by the highest customer reviews. Then I saw there were 7 swords that tied with the top ranking of 4.8. That is extremely high because 5 is the best you can get. So then I just looked at those 7 swords and picked the coolest looking one. I picked this one because it is red and white instead of black like the other ones and it also has a golden dragon around the handel.

I tried it out in the backyard cutting some old Mountain Dew cans and my nayber Randall wanted to try it out and I told him by one of his own. Let me tell you this blade is SHARP. Be careful if you are not experienced with martial arts like I am. But most important this sword looks AWESOME. I tried it on along with my leather trenchcoat and other tactical gear and I almost did not believe what I saw in the mirror. My mom said I am finally becoming a man. I hung this sword on the wall over my computer so I can see it when I am watching movies but sometimes I hold it in my lap just so I can feel the power inside it. By Steven.

Into The Sun DVD

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ God works in mistereus ways.

Steven Seagal is Travis Hunter a CIA agent in Japan. When somebody kills the the president of Japan Travis Hunter is on the case to solve it and bring the Yackooza to justice. There are many reasons that this movie is outstanding some of them are because of fighting but there are also personal reasons why I love this movie but first I will tell you more about the fighting.

There are two gangs. One gang is the old Yackooza but the other one is the new Yackooza. The new gang has no respect for the old ways and they are extremely vilent. Travis Hunter zooms in on the security footage and sees that the crooks all have a necklace they like to wear with a symbol that proves they are all working together in the same gang. It is almost to easy. Now Travis can prove they are also the same Yackooza gang who asasenated the president of Japan.

Travis Hunter also has a partner named Sean Mack and you know what that means he will die. Then at one part Travis Hunter also falls in love with a beautiful Japanese woman and marries her. If you know Steven Seagal movies then you know this is not going to go well for either of them and yes that is the case when Sean Mack gets killed of a broken neck. But he has it better than Travis Hunters wife because she gets slashed up by swords. Now this case is more than just a job for Travis Hunter now its personal.

And this leads to the best part. Travis Hunter is no longer mister nice guy. He uses both karate and swords to absolutely destroy the yackooza. He gets the main bad guy and literally hacks him to pieces over and over again until he is just a pile of bloody chunks. He kills lots of other bad guys in one of those karate palaces with the sliding paper doors. It is pure dinomite. Also there are to times when hot chicks get naked. Unlike some other Steven Seagal movies the plot is not very complicated and it is more about the action meaning you do not have to pay attention to much in between. Great for sleeping!

And now I will explain why this movie is personal to me even more than most other Steven Seagal movies. In this movie he literally wears a black leather trenchcoat that goes all the way to his ankles and fights with a katana sword. This is remarkable because I also own a black leather trenchcoat that goes all the way to my ankles and i also now have a katana sword. When he first came on screen with the trenchcoat and the sword I was like no way! I looked over in the mirror and what did I see? Also me wearing a trenchcoat and with my katana sword laying across my lap. Basically me and Steven Seagal looked like twins. I told my mom about it and she said that God works in mistereus ways. ## Corn Removers 24 Pack

★★★★★ I wish I could give them 10 stars

My feet started hurting and itching real bad around the front and where the toes connect to the front of the foot. I scratched between my toes so bad the skin got red and sometimes would even bleed. My mom saw me doing it one day and saw what the problem was. She said I have corns on my feet and that you get them when you walk too much and your feet get sweaty especially if you are wearing tactical waterproof boots which is definitely the case for me at my new job where I am working as hard as I can because I want to do the best job. My mom said all you have to do is put little corn remover pads on the blisters and they dry up and go away in no time and boy was she right. I literally could not believe how quick this product works. Lesson learned trust your mom. By Steven.

Jack Links Meat Bars 14 Count Variety Pack

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ It is time to enjoy the finer things.

I was recently regoznied at work and as a reward I was given the chance to by this variety pack of goremay beef jerky with some chicken jerky included also. I used to only eat Slim Jim because of several reasons including price and flavor and Macho Man Randy Savage of course. And I used to also look at fancy beef jerky and think it was not only a rip off for being so expensive but also just kind of snobby. Well maybe I was wrong about all that. This jerky is good and who knows maybe I just did not want it because I could not have it then and deep down I was actually jealous of people who got it so I acted like I did not want it anyways.

This variety pack of Meat Bars from the Jack Links Company has several different kinds of meat bars included. They are all .9 Ounces. There are 3 original flavor 3 teriyaki 3 sweet habanero 2 spicy chicken flavor and one rotisserie chicken flavor. Regular beef is the best. Teriyaki is also delishus. Habanero is maybe a little to spicy for me but also good. I didnt not read the fine print to see that some of these jerkies were chicken jerkys but they are witch isnt bad but beef is better.

This jerky is more than jerky it is also a symbol of growing up.
I have never had a real job like this before or worked at a legit company like this and from being a customer to a part of the Amazon family is the best thing that has happened for me in a very long time maybe forever. By steven.

Jeff Bezos: Biography of a Billionaire Business Titan Paperback

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This book is a must read

I have not read this book but I did read the first 4 pages and i can already tell you it is a five star book that you should by. This is a book about Jeff Bezos the man who invented Amazon and runs it and this is his story. But it is more than that it also includes lessons from Jeff Bezos himself about how to be sucksesful just like him.

Here is what I know I have not read a book since probly junior high school. Like many people today I can find books to be boring and just simply not as fun as watching a movie. But I do have so much respect for Jeff Bezos as the man behind Amazon and I want to learn how to be the best just like he learned how to be the best. If this book turns out to be less than five stars after I read it I will change my review but I know that I will love this book. The back of it says a lot about what will happen inside but I do not want to spoil it for you. By Steven.

CHAPTER 42

Code of Honor DVD

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★ This is the work of a super vigilante

Steven Seagal is Kernal Robert Sikes and he is the super vigilante everybody is talking about. He was once a CIA speshul operations guy like my dad was but then he went missing and his family was murdered and I guess the same thing kind of happened to this other guy who was a speshul operations CIA guy to but is now a FBI agent. His name is Palmer.

So basically this is what happens. Kernel Robert Sikes shows up with a sniper rifle and kills some people this time it is drug dealers he kills them all and they never even see him. Then the next day Agent Palmer and the other FBI shows up and they try and figure out who killed all the bad guys. But before they can figure it out Kernal Robert Sikes strikes again. Next time he blows up a strip club with a bomb. He also shoots some gang bangers. He kills a pimp and he kills some kids who are drinking beers and some people who are doing drugs who as I already said are bad people who deserve to get killed for justice.

The best part is when Kernal Robert Sikes and Agent Palmer finally come face to face in a niteclub and Robert Sikes tells him there is a bomb planted under his chair and if Palmer stands up he will explode. But then the bad guys come in to try and kill them and agent Palmer has to fight them off all wile not getting out of his chair. This is probly the best action in any Steven Seagal movie I have seen in maybe forever however it DOES NOT FEATURE STEVEN SEAGAL. He already walked away from the seen and the fighting happens without him. This is one of many problems I have with this movie. Like a lot of the new Steven Seagal movies he is not the only good guy because there are to good guys and that means half the time you are watching somebody who is not Steven Seagal. This is like bait and swich marketing if you ask me. He does not do karate and only shoots people from far away until the very end when he does just a little bit of karate to slap the gun out of Palmers hand. That part was great but there should have been more of it. Slapping gun hands and flipping rists is some of the best stuff Steven Seagal can do why arent more of those rists getting flipped? Yes the shooting is good but it needs to be balanced with karate. Also the blood is fake.

At the end you find out that they are the same person? I dont know actually what happened I do not like plot twists. I want to see great fights and brutal stuff not something artsy fartsy. The worst part is that when this movie is actually about Kernal Robert Sikes it is awesome. This guy who has put up with to much crap for to long and is tired of seeing criminals crap all over justice and he snaps. Everybody can no what that feels like. The movie should have been called Kill Spree and just been about Steven Seagal shooting everybody but also not forgetting to do karate. By Steven.

23-in-1 Military Tactical Watch for Men

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This watch is a dream come true

My dad did not leave me much stuff that was worth anything when it comes to actual money. I have his library of VHS movies and also some clothes and a suit that will never fit me and a tie I can not tie. I did however have a watch of his but because that watch was valuable when it came to actual money my mom had to sell it to keep the heat on one time. I do not blame her she is a saint and she did what she had to do to take care of us after my dad got the call of duty and died a hero.

But since then i always wanted a real luxury watch and I so I thought I am making enough money now is the time to finally do it. I am reading a book about Jeff Bezos the guy who invented Amazon and he says you have to remember the Regret Minimalization Frame Work. That means even if something is risky would you regret not doing it when you get older and that is defanatley the answer with bying this watch because one day I want to have a son and I can pass this watch on to him just like my dad did with me when he left to join the speshul forces and hunt terrorists. Jeff Bezos did not have a dad when he was little either because his dad left the family too just like mine did only the difference is his dad left because he was a drunk and not a hero.

I will not tell you all 23 of the features in this watch but I will tell you some of the best it has both a regular watch and a digital watch. It has a cumpass in the ristband that is made from actual parashoot fabric and can hold 550 pounds. There is a stop watch i can use at work to time myself and make sure I am pushing myself to be the best I can. There is also a firestarter and an SOS flashing lite and an emergency whistle for emergencies when you need a whistle. It came in a metal box when i pulled up the sleeve on my trenchcoat to show my mom she was like wow. She said every man needs a watch and now I have one witch means I am now a man. By Steven.

CHAPTER 44

The Perfect Weapon

Steven P. Felcher

★ This movie is bait and switch!

I am mad at this movie and I will tell you why. This movie has a cool name and a cool cover with Steven Seagals face and his name in big letters at the top. But however this is NOT a Steven Seagal movie. This is a bait and switch marketing to trick people!

I love Steven Seagal movies he is my number one favorite action star. The old movies were classics some of the new ones were not as good but mainly because they had to good guys instead of just one and that mint that Steven Seagal was basically only in half of the movie. But this stinking pile of turds is even worse because in this movie Steven Seagal actually plays the bad guy. His name is The Director witch is stupid. He doesnt even have a name. He is some bad guy president of the future or whatever.

The good guy in this movie is actually some other dude named Condor. He is an elite asasen in the future but he makes his bosses mad when he lets the hot chick live so they decide to reprogram him. But the Condor has other plans and he fights for his freedom then they try and capture him but he breaks out of jail they try to get his girlfriend but he saves her and they get it on witch is pretty cool because she is so hot. Then some people double cross Condor but he actually doublecrosses them and kills the bad guys and saves the chick.

Did you notice how I told you the whole plot of this movie but did not mention Steven Seagal? Thats because he is only in the movie 3 times. He only does this one tiny bit of karate at the end but then Condor stabs him and kills him. This is something that on a personal level offended me. If you know anything about Steven Seagal you know that he does not get beat up in the movies. He also does not even get knocked down and he never ever under any circumstances gets killed. But in this movie he gets his ass kicked until and then he dies.

What happened to Condor? Well after he killed the Director some police were going to kill him but then some guys with swords showed up and saved him I dont know why they did it or who they were. This is the worst movie that I have ever seen in my life I hate it. I cant believe this movie is a real movie. If you like this movie you are an idiot. By Steven.

Tactical LED Flashlight

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Very good flashlite

I had to get a good flashlite because it is dark a lot when I get to work or when I leave work and since my Ford Festiva wont start i have to walk a lot more to the bus stop and this lite is extremely useful for walking in the dark or for reading a book about your boss Jeff Bezos wile you wait for the bus in the dark. Did you know that Amazon first started in 1997 and just to sell books only? Jeff Bezos new he had to start small but also have a plan to grow bigger and only 2 years later he was named the man of the year by Time Magazine. Wow can you imagine how great that would be. By Steven.

CHAPTER 46

Contract to Kill

Steven P. Felcher

★★★ Why is this movie not awesome?

Steven Seagal is John Harmon a guy with a really normal name in this movie that has all the ingredients of a great movie but is just a kind of okay one. The good news is that John Harmon is a good guy and that there is no other main good guy to take up half of the movie but the bad news is that the fighting is not so good. If I bought this on DVD I probably would be more mad about it but it's good enough to leave on streaming while you sleep or improve your mind by reading a book about Jeff Bezos and just stopping to look up sometimes to see the fights.

Basically this movie starts with every American's worst nightmare there are Mexican illegals sneaking into the country but we find out they are really Muslim terrorists. They want to work with drug cartels to bring heroin into the country. There is only one guy who can stop them and that guy is John Harmon who is in the CIA. But to stop them he needs the help of two people. One of them is a very sexy chick and the other one is a dude who put a machine gun on a drone so he can fly his machine gun around the city and shoot things from the sky. As you can clearly see all of this sounds like an extremely awesome movie to watch and in a way it kind of is and yet in other ways it kind of sucks.

There are only 11 times John Harmon kills somebody in this whole movie and most of them is just shooting a pistol while sitting down in a chair or shooting from far away. There is karate but it is not always Steven Seagal doing the karate. There is a car chase but they drive so slow and they never crash into each other or flip over. There is a part where a plane explodes but it looks so fake it made me laugh. When Steven Seagal talks instead of just saying the things he has to say he also says things like um and uh and uh um um uh over and over again. Does anybody murder his kid? No he does not have one. Does anybody murder his exwife? No he does not have one. So it never gets personal and he is never pushed over the line. The best part is at the end when the bad guy tries to kill him and he does that thing where he flips there rists around and makes him shoot himself in the face. Awesome. I wish this movie had been called Face Shooter and it was about a vigilante who was an expert at flipping rists around who walked the streets at nite making criminals shoot themselves in the face with there own guns. ## Men's Assault Tactical Combat Long Short

★★★★★ UPdated Review This Shirt is Pretty Good Really

I am writing this review to update my old review of this Mens Assault Tactical Combat Shirt. At first I did not like it because it was to tight and made me look fat but now that I have been busting my butt at work harder than ever and also walking back and forth from the bus stop I have been loosing a lot of wait and now this shirt looks pretty good on me. The problem was not with the shirt but with me for being fat and not working hard enough. But much like my boss Jeff Bezos who I am reading a whole book about I understand how you have to work hard and push yourself if you do not want to be a fat loser who sucks at life. Did you no Jeff Bezos is making a space ship rocket to? It is true. That means that its not just tek I also now also work in the space travel industry. I told my mom and she said she always new I would do grate things. By Steven.

The Asian Connection

Steven P. Felcher

★ This movie is a real crap.

Steven Seagal is in this movie and thats about all I can say for it because other than that it totally sucks. Also Steven Seagal is not really in this movie that much even though he is on the cover of the movie. It starts with him but then it turns out no this is really a movie about Jack.

Who is Jack? Well he robs a bank with his friend and then shows his girlfriend all the money they stole and then they make plans for how they will smuggle it out but he gets beat up by some guy who knows he stole the money and he wants that money for himself. This means Jack needs some protection so he goes to by some guns but then somebody sets him up and he has to do another robbery but the robbery goes wrong and then Jacks partner gets killed. What the hell?? In a normal Steven Seagal movie it is Steven Seagal who has his partner killed and this is what pushes him over the edge to get vengence but here it is some guy named Jack whos partner gets killed.

Then later we find out that Steven Seagal is actually the guy who set Jack up to do the robberies witch i guess means he is the maybe bad guy? But only if Jack is the good guy but then I am not sure he is the good guy. Who knows maybe they are just to guys and nobody is good or bad. Then there is a seen where to asasens fight with each other and one of them does the rist flip move to make the other guy stab himself with a broken bottle. Um excuse me? I love the rist flip move as much as anybody it is actually probly my number one favorite karate move in history however if this is a Steven Seagal movie it is supposed to be Steven Seagal doing the rist flips!

There is a car chase and yes two barrels explode but the cars dont explode and they dont flip or even crash into each other. Then Steven Seagal shoots some guy with a machine gun but does not do any karate and then the movie is over.

I do not know if this is the worst Steven Seagal movie because when I watch some of the new ones that were never in the theater only on streaming I have to admit there are actually a lot of pure crap ones and sadly here the reason why it is because Steven Seagal is fat. That means he cant do the karate or rist flips or running or even really walking much and instead spends the hole movie in a chair with his hands folded over his fat gut. Now

I first must say I have no problem with people being fat until the very recent part of my life I was also husky in bonal structure but I have been walking a lot and pushing myself so hard at work that i am way less husky than ever. I hate to admit this because I love the old Steven Seagal movies but Jeff Bezos is a better roll model. By Steven.

TACTICAL SELF DEFENSE PEN

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ It is great

I guess I did not really need this pen but Amazon said I should give it a shot and it was only 8 bucks with free shipping so what the heck. I am glad I did by it because it is a small price to pay for peace of mind in a world that is so crazy.

This pen can rite just like a regular pen can but that is where the simularateys end because this pen also has a tactical LED lite and some back up watch batteries and a safety whistle and most important a pointed metal tip witch is not long enough to stab people like a knife can but it is pointy enough that it can be used to bust windows open like if your car goes off a bridge and you only have seconds to break the windows before you die. But obviously you can still also use it to smash someones skull if you need to and the sad thing about life is you never know when you might need to smash a skull or to. This pen is used by military and police and SWAT teams Airforce Pilots and even Navy Seals according to Amazon so for 8 bucks it is good enough for me to.

Thank you Amazon! By Seven.

Attrition

Steven P. Felcher

★★ All these movies suck now

I had this movie on in the background while I was reading before bed so maybe I missed some important stuff but I don't know what happened in this movie and I guess there was one really cool part but other than that spare yourself and fast forward through this crap. I picked this movie because it had karate costumes and Chinese writing on the cover and that pretty much meant there would be more karate than guns and I guess that is true however the karate mostly sucks and once again Steven Seagal is so fat you just can't take him seriously as an action hero.

At the end Steven Seagal does get to hack up some guy who was probably a bad guy with a katana/ninja sword. This moment is extremely awesome but I would almost rather just watch the kill scenes on YouTube where you can literally just type in the name of a movie and kills and get a video of just the people getting killed in that movie and not have to watch the whole stupid movie.

Also the name of this movie is dumb I wish Amazon did not even have these suck ass movies on there just give us the good stuff please not the junk. By Steven.

Amazon Essentials Men's Light Weight Water Resistant Packable Puffer Vest

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ I cant believe I found this exact product!

I have been reading a book about Jeff Bezos the founder of Amazon. He used to be a fat nerd mammas boy but then one day he said enough and he learned about disipline and the importance of things like health and now he keeps getting more buff. Kind of like me.

There are other things we have in common to like he used to have a crap job. His was at McDonalds Mine was at Food City. Now we both work at Amazon. He always wears the same puffy vest and one day I was like that would be pretty cool to have one of my own to. So I went to Amazon and typed in Bezos Vest and this came up and wouldnt you no it this is exactly the same vest Jeff Bezos has. It is only 6 bucks no shipping cost next day delivery thanks to his company Amazon. It fits great and is perfect to ware when it is to cool for just a tactical shirt but not cold enough for a

GENERAL COMMANDER

Steven P. Felcher

★ I turned it off.

Do not get tricked by this another fake Steven Seagal movie! All guns and no karate! Some other dude is the hero. After like 17 minutes I started reading my book. I did not see any good karate but I did however learn that Jeff Bezos does not hire anyone who says they believe in a work life balance. He says the only way you get ahead is for work to be your life and even when you arent at work you should still be thinking about how to be better at work when you get back tomorrow. And this man has the results to prove that he knows what he is talking about unlike fat Steven Seagal. I am going to put on my tactical boots and walk laps around my house for 2 hours before bed so I can practice for work. I only wish there was a way I could read my book about Jeff Bezos while I am walking in the dark. By Steven.

Pro Cordless Rechargeable Hair Clippers and Trimmers

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Quik and easy and didnt even need to read the instructions

I am almost finished reading a book about Jeff Bezos the man who invented Amazon and is a billionaire CEO. There are a lot of ways that we are alike for instance both our dads left us and both of our moms worked hard to take care of us. And also both of our moms always believed we were speshul and could do something great with ourselves. I got a vest like his a little wile ago and it was awesome so I figured I would take his advice and shave my head to so I finally said goodbye to my ponytail. These clippers got the job done simple and easy even for someone like me who has never buzzed his hair off and not even cut his pony tail once in 11 years. Now I have no hair so I will spend less time cleaning it and getting haircuts and letting my mom brush it out so I will have more time to focus on what matters in life and that is being the best at my job and showing everybody how great I can be. ## Sniper: Special Ops

★ I am done with all this stupid movies.

If you had to drive to the mall and pay ten bucks to see this movie nobody would have ever done it and Steven Seagal never would have been a movie star. Jeff Bezos says that a good nites sleep is one of the most important things for a businessman and so many nites I just turn one of these movies on streaming and let it play in the background wile I sleep but the TV is so bright and the sounds wake me up sometimes. I used to say i could not sleep and so thats why i watched the movies but now I think maybe i could not sleep because I was watching the movies. So time to stop watching this garbage and become the best Steven they have ever seen. I finished reading my book about Jeff Bezos but instead of watching movies I am going to read another book because books can improve you life way more. By Steven.

EMPLOYEE EVALUATION: Steven P. Felcher

ROLE: Warehouse picker

REVIEWED BY: Susan Dill

COMMENTS: Since his first day on the job, Steven has proven himself to be a hardworking and valuable member of our team. And while he was always willing to go the extra mile to deliver results, these last couple of months he has shown a level of dedication that surpasses the high standards Steven had already set for himself. He arrives early for work, always volunteers to stay late, picks up extra shifts as needed, and has no regard for the sort of employee banter which can undermine workplace productivity. Best of all he seems genuinely grateful for the opportunity this job has afforded him. His physical and mental health have steadily improved over the course of this year. If anything, Steven sometimes pushes himself a little too hard and management must remind him to slow down and take breaks.

RECOMMENDATION: Maintain current level of employment.

CHAPTER 56

Can't Hurt Me by David Goggins Audible Audiobook

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ If you ever did not believe in yourself, then you NEED this book.

This book is amazing. It is about a man named David Goggins who is one of the most exceptional people in history. He was a Navy Seal and also a guy who runs ultramarathons which are marathons where he has to run for 24 hours straight for 100 miles. But this was not easy for him and he had to overcome many challenges like for instance the fact that his father was a drunk who used to beat his ass. But what is most important about David Goggins and this book is how he can show anybody how to unlock their inner beast and do amazing things just like him. He says most people out there only work 40 percent as hard as they can and that is why they fail and unlike him or Jeff Bezos never make their great destiny a reality. This is a hard truth and if I am being honest with myself I know that there are plenty of times that I take breaks at work and do not push myself to my absolute limit. This needs to stop today. I will work 40 percent harder.

Also unlike the Jeff Bezos book that I read before this this book I listened to this book instead as an audio book and let me tell you this it is great. Books can be slow to read and also if you read them on the bus then you can get sick to your stomach but that is not the case with an audio book. You just put your tactical headphones on and get motivated as you walk laps around the house all night to practice for work the next day. By Steven.

★★★★★ I am addicted to the heat

Well I never thought that I would rite a five star review for a product like this. For one back in the day I only ate Slim Jim and used to think Jack Links was only for snobs. And also because I used to not like spicy beef jerky but I got a Jack Links variety pack one time and at first I did not like the spicy ones but after a wile I did. And now I feel like they are the best ones to the point where I do not want the regular flavored ones anymore. A little ranch dressing is the perfect way to balance the heat with something cool and creamy. ## Diet Mountain Dew Variety Pack (Major Melon, Spark Rasp) 12oz Pack of 18

Steven P. Felcher

★ This is NOT good

I was trying to cut back on cokes and sugar and unhealthy drinks so I thought maybe I would try diet mountain dew instead of regular but oh my god this is awful. I couldnt drink it so I tried to give it to my mom and even she said it was to gross to drink. I just let my nayber Randall have them and he said they were god awful to so instead of drinking them we just shot them with the potato gun he made from some stuff he got from the dumpster behind Home Depo. ## Black Rifle Coffee Supply Drop (48 Pods)

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ When was the last time a drink made you feel proud?

I have to stop drinking cokes, but I did not want to only drink water so I decided to start drinking coffee and Amazon suggested this brand which is owned by the Marines and donates the money to soldiers. That was all I needed to hear. I was not ever in the army myself because I never joined the army but I always have respect for our heroes and so even if this coffee costs a little bit more than other coffee it is worth it. The taste is also very good. Also it comes in a box with machine guns on the side which is cool looking and when I opened it my mom actually thought I got a machine gun bullets from Amazon. Nope just coffee but not just any coffee quite simply the best coffee. This is my tip to you add a scoop of protein isolate clean carb powder to your coffee. By Steven.

Scars and Stripes: An Unapologetically American Story of Fighting the Taliban, UFC Warriors, And Myself Audible Audiobook

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Nobody can stop me but myself

I would like to thank Amazon for suggesting I listen to this book on tape because it has changed my life just as much as the Jeff Bezos book and the David Goggins book. This book is by Tim Kennedy who as the title says killed terrorists and was a UFC fighter. But there is a lot more to this story because he used to be a jerk. He turned that around and became a great guy and unlocked his inner beast and that is the lesson of this book for me and anybody else reading this review. That lesson is there is nobody who can stop you but yourself. I know that is true because I used to be a fat loser who lived with his mom and worked at Food City. But now even though I am not skinny or ripped or whatever I am way less fat than I used to be and even though I still live with my mom because she has mobility issues i now work at the biggest tek company in the world and I am on track to earn a promotion to corporate because I am by far the hardest worker there. Tim Kennedy tackled a bull with his bare hands in this book. Jeff started at McDonalds and got a billion dollars because he made Amazon. If they can do that then I can do anything I put my mind to. Mark my words. By Steven.

Wow exactly what the label says. I can tell these pills work because my boss Susan jokes she says slow down Steven your going to hurt yourself. No more worrying about your job all nite and if you are pushing yourself hard enough to make your dreams a reality. No more watching youtube videos about goverment petafiles. ### Bomturn Tactical Battle Belt Law Enforcement Utility Police Belt

7pcs

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Be prepared for anything with this belt

I have been loosing a lot of weight so I needed a new belt and I have also had very good experiences bying tactical grade products such as socks and underwear and yes even slimming shirts. I am very happy to report that this belt is the best tactical product I have got yet. Why? First it looks great. Second it also works great at keeping your pants or cargo shorts in place wile doing lots of hard work like squatting and bending over and speed walking as fast as you can so you can get a promtion from Jeff. But most important this belt can help keep you prepared if there is an emergency and all our silent warriors must step up and activate themselves to save the country and so this tactical belt also comes equipied with a place to store a compass and a tactical knife as well as any guns and extra bullets you need. I do not have a gun so I can put healthy snacks like trail mix in those pouches for now along with my tactical self defense pen. But it is good to know that I have the place for more weapons if I need them in the future. True warriors never start fights but they must be prepared to defend others in a time of disaster and this belt means I can do just that. The one problem with it is that it does not have a place to hold a katana sword if you have one like I do but this is a small problem and not worth taking a star away from the review besides I can just put my sword on my back. ## Tactical Waterproof Compass

★★★★★ This cumpas is the real deal.

I got this cumpas to complete all the gear in my tactical belt. I do not have to use it that much in my regular life working in tek but it is good to be prepared for any kind doomsday where I would need to defend myself or a helpless woman. This cumpas says that it is water proof and I am happy to report that it is I got stuck in the rain on my way to the bus stop and I tested the cumpas and it did not stop working. By Steven.

Swiss Safe 3-in-1 Tactical Knife for Military First Responders

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This knife is so awesome

This knife is a great addition to your tactical belt. Ever since I was a kid and I first saw Rambo I have wanted a tactical knife like this. It is black and has the jagged little teeth up and down the blade so it does more than just stab people it can tare there flesh too.

I am not in the army or a police officer so I have not used this knife in battle yet and I can not tell you how it holds up for fighting but I have used it lots of times around the house for things like poking or scratching or opening a can or cutting things that you need to cut but you do not have sissors handy because there is not a place for tactical sissors on your new tactical belt.

And also you never know when you will have to defend yourself or your property and it is always best to be prepared. Now that I have this knife I am more pepared than ever. All I have to do is wear this knife and people do not sit next to me or talk to me on the bus because they now know this is a man you should not F with.

Leadership and Training for the Fight Audible Audiobook

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Now I have a warrior mindset.

This book is by a guy who was in the army for 20 years and 10 of those were years he was in the Speshul Forces. For those who do not know it Speshul Forces are the baddest of all the soldiers. In the old movies Steven Seagal was always one and in real life so was my father. Weather you or are fighting terrirists in the middle east like Paul R. Howe the guy who rote this book or if you are climbing the corporate ladder in the tek and space industry like me you will need the same skills such as leadership and courage and the will to survive and push yourself beyond what you ever thought was possible to win no matter how many people dout you or even if sometimes you even dout yourself. I could already see how I had a leadership mindset but now I see that I can also have a warrior mindset. Failure is not an optshun.

When people loose in the army other people die and so Paul R. Howe knows how important it is not to fail. People do not die if they fail in the tek sektor but people can get injured a lot more than you think and then they are screwed because its not like they can work if they cant walk. The point is Paul R. Howe has been there and seen it all and he had mentors who taught him and now he can be a mentor to people like me. Every time I listen to a new book on my tactical headphones I am always amazed at how much I have in common with them. For instance David Goggins and Tim Kennedy and most of all the big man himself my my boss Jeff. I used to feel alone when I would wait in the dark for the bus in the morning or at night but now I am not alone because I walk with them. By Steven.

Tactical Wire Self Defense Whip for Protection and Outdoor Sports

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Pretty sweet whip

Somehow Amazon must know I bought a tactical self defense belt because they have been suggesting all kinds of tactical gear to fill it up. This one looked to good to be true but I am happy to report that it is not no it is every bit as awesome as the picture makes you think it is. This is literally a whip yes you heard me a whip like something from Indiana Jones. But it also has a heavy metal tip which would absolutely destroy someones skull if they ever try to F with you on the bus. My nayber Randall said he was a pro and would show me how to use it but he busted his own lip with it. That is a reminder that this is not a toy it is a serious weapon. So remember to watch youtube videos about how to whip correctly before you start whipping. By Steven.

Police Force 12,000,000 Tactical Stun Stick Flashlight (2 pack)

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Now this is a good deal on tazers

I was looking for a taser to help fill up my tactical belt and there are a lot of options out there. I went with this one because you got two tazers for the price of one. Also some tazers are small so you can carry them in a purse without anyone knowing you have it but that is not the case with these tasers. They are big and loud and look like police batons witch I like because I want bad guys to know what they are up against. One side is also a flashlight witch is very helpful even though I already have one tactical flashlight on my belt already but it is always good to be prepared with a backup. I dont know if the tazer works as good as it looks because i have not thankfully been in the position where someone has tested me and i have to defend myself but the way things are in America today it is probly only a matter of time that is why you must have a warrior mindset like me and the mentors who go with me. Steven P. Felcher ★★★★★ Wow this is the product I never knew I needed but I did.

At first Amazon said get this and I was like not really sure. I thought grooming was for metrosexuals like Ben Affleck or whatever but this grooming paste lives up to the name tactical. My scalp has been very dry lately because I have been shaving it every day to look like Jeff Bezos but as soon as I put this grooming paste on my scalp it felt cooler and smoother and when I went into the living room my mom said whats that good smell and the answer was It was my head mom. ## Nektek Shiazon Back and Shoulder Massager

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ This mothers day show mom how much you care.

I wanted to get my mom something speshul this year because she has always been there for me so I went to google and typed in nice gifts for mom and it took me to a list of of 57 ideas and so I picked the one I knew she would like and went to Amazon to look it up instead because it was 7 dollars cheaper there. The name Shaizon for massagers is like the name Rolls Royce for cars and this massager has 8 Shiazon massagers on it and lots of different speed and direction controls. My mom has a lot of neck pain from how she props her head up when she watches tv and I know she always says she does not need anything fancy and not to spend money on her but she loved this gift and it was worth every penny to put a smile on her face. ## Nektek Shiazio Back and Shoulder Massager

Steven P. Felcher

★ Cheap piece of CRAP

Hi this is Steven. I am changing my five star review of this product to ONE STAR because it is a cheap piece of chinese crap that broke only six days after I got it for my mom to help with her neck pain from how she lays sideways on the sofa to see the tv. She is a saint and she deserves the best in life not crap like this. She told me it was no big deal and to calm down she can still use it to scratch herself but it is a big deal to me. People work hard for there money and we are always getting screwed over by crooks and goverment petafiles. Somebody has to stand up and do something. Maybe giving this junk product a one star review is all I can do but if I ever met the chinese guy who made this product I would whip him with my tactical self defense whip until he apologized to my mom and also to Jeff because these scammers are giving my boss a bad name. EMPLOYEE EVALUATION: Steven P. Felcher

ROLE: Warehouse picker

REVIEWED BY: Susan Dill

COMMENTS: Steven continues to show a tireless dedication to his job that is typically only seen in the military. He is self-motivated, focused, and as was demonstrated earlier this year during his struggles with diarrhea, he is also a problem-solver. If anything, Steven may push himself a little too hard. He now refuses all food and bathroom breaks and maintains an exhausting pace on the warehouse floor. This has increased department productivity and helped Steven to lose a truly impressive amount of weight, but there are times at which management has expressed concerns about his safety. Any attempt to express those concerns triggers a backlash in which, eager to prove us wrong, he pushes himself to work even harder.

Steven regularly alludes to earning a “promotion to corporate.” Others in management have assured me they have made neither concrete promises nor vague suggestions that he is in line for any sort of promotion, and it is unclear what exactly he means by “corporate.” Other than that, Steven is a dream employee.

RECOMMENDATION: Maintain current level of employment.

CHAPTER 78

Unbeatable Mind: How to Succeed at an Elite Level 3 Audible Audiobook

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ You can be 20 times better than you are now

That is one of the many important messages in this book by Mark Divine. He calls this the 20x rule and he should no because he is an expert on being great. That was true all thru his time as a Navy Seal and a karate master and also a business leader. He did it and now he can show people like you and me the secrets witch I have to admit I already knew because I have lost 18 pounds and read a real book and listened to four audio books to.

Basically it comes down to a few key points first you have to wake up to the bigger reality that the hole world will try and convince you that you should settle and you are a nobody and that is why you do not win non stop. So that means first you must learn to believe in yourself but like to really believe in yourself. You have to stop being afraid of anything and you have to stop being negative about anything or letting negative people change you. This makes you a master of yourself in life and even on the battlefield. You have to learn to trust your intuition and use mental imagery to picture victory because only by picturing what you want to do in life can you ever hope to do it. That's why when I am riding the bus to my tech job I do not have any fear that I will not get what I want in life or at work. I just picture my big corner office one day and I picture my yacht and my Lamborghini and how me and Jeff will hang out and be friends and he will ask me for ways he can make our company better and I will always have some good ideas like getting rid of cheap Chinese junk products like my POS shiatsu massager I got my mom. And when I tell other people my dreams I can not let it get to me if people like Susan or my neighbor Randall say that I can not make those dreams come true or that I am stupid for thinking that. They are good people but good people can still be wrong and weak and afraid if they and they can not wake up to reality until they are willing to push themselves 20x. This is the way to unlock your warrior spirit and become truly unstoppable in life or on the battlefield. By Steven.

Warehouse Incident Report

Employee: Steven P. Felcher

Title: Warehouse Picker

MOD: Susan Dill

Incident Description: Steven was climbing a movable ladder in an attempt to retrieve an item from a top shelf. Upon descending the ladder and turning to deliver the package to his cart, he twisted his knee. He had great difficulty walking and was clearly experiencing considerable pain, although he kept repeating that he “felt no pain.” He was driven by cart to the First Aid office to receive treatment. It was suggested that we phone his emergency contact, but without further elaboration he said that she would be unable to come help him. Against recommendation, he dismissed himself and was driven by cart to the bus stop on Lupton Parkway.

Manager’s Assessment: For Several Months we’ve been warning Steven he was going to hurt himself and he finally did. His refusal to listen, coupled with the arrogance of his newfound “warrior mentality,” make it difficult to have much sympathy for him. However he remains the most dedicated and productive member of our team and it will be impossible to truly replace him if he is unable to work.

Beyond the Law DVD

Steven P. Felcher

★ Trash.

I got hurt at work so I cant do much but lay around for the next few weeks so I was like what they heck I will watch another old Steven Seagal movie so I put this one on. But it is not an old Steven Seagal movie it is just mint to look that way. The name of this movie sounds like Above the Law witch is a great old classic Steven Seagal movie. Also it has the rapper DMX in it witch makes you think of another classic called Exit Wounds. But this movie is not either Above the Law or Exit Wounds. In fact it is a movie from the fat years of Steven Seagals career. Just like a Shiazio massager that looks great in the pictures but doesnt work this movie looks like something awesome but it is nothing more than a trick. I will never watch another Steven Seagal movie again for the rest of my life. This time I mean it no matter how hurt and bored I get. By steven.

★★★★★ Now I am prepared for anything.

I was watching on Youtube about what happens if the government petafiles try and shut the country down and a lot of things we take for granted like grocery stores or restaurants might disappear in the blink of an eye and it got me thinking how if I am honest with myself I am not prepared for that day. There were a lot of different emergency meal replacement packs to chose from on Amazon and I picked this one because it has a great balance of cost and amount and it comes in a black plastic container I can store with no problem. Also as it says in the name of the product this is for Patriots and I am defenetly a patriot. I have not tasted this product yet because I want to save it for the day I really need it but I will give it five stars until that day because more then flavor what this food supply gives you even if you dont use it is peace of mind in a world that is very deadly. ★★★★★ It is like my feet died and went to heaven

I am stuck at the house with my mom for a while because I can not work and we said what the heck lets by one of these things to make life a little more nice and let me tell you this IS INCREDIBLE. It took a little while to get it set up and plugged in and to understand all the buttons and what it does. At first I was starting to get mad and I thought I got tricked into bying trash but this is not trash. It is awesome. The remote control is great because the last thing you want to have to do when you are relaxing is stop and bend over for any reason even just to push a button. The only problem with this electric footbath is we only have one and so we have to share it but once I get back to work I am going to by another one just for myself. So I said ok she can pick the movie and of course she picked Forrest Gump because it is her favorite movie.

My mom says that she loves this movie because it is about a mom who loves her son even though he is not that smart and how that did not stop him from doing great things in his life just like his mom used to always tell him. But if you ask me this movie is about a dumass and who wants to watch a movie about a dumass? She said I am just always angry now but I said it was her fault that she picked a movie with Tom Hanks when everybody knows he is the biggest goverment petafile of them all. Hi this is Steven. I am here to update my last review of this Folding Electric Footbath because it is a piece of crap. Do not buy this piece of crap. It will break after only 9 days who knows maybe if my mom had one of her own it would have lasted longer but I can not blame her there is only one person to blame and that is China. They are tearing this country down from the inside by stealing our money for fake Shiazio massager and electric footbaths that break and are so crappy that I couldnt even trade it to my nayber Randall for him to make something new out of it. This product had a rating of five stars from all six of the people who got one. There is no way theres was that great wile mine was total junk that broke in 9 days. That makes no sense. ## UFC Ultimate Fights 1993-2009 Volume 1

★★★★★ Thats more like it Amazon

I watched one stupid Tom Hanks movie with my mom and now they wont stop forcing Tom Hanks down my throat. And then when I clicked on more Tom Hanks movies to give them bad reviews I guess it thought that I wanted to watch more Tom Hanks movies. Okay computer I get it I better find some not Tom Hanks stuff to click on so that it learns who I really am.

I picked this video because I love fighting and self defense but also because this video is an extrmely good value. You get 12 hours of brutal fighting and let me tell you this is real brutal fighting not that fake rist flip stuff like you see in a Steven Seagal movie. There is real blood and people really get there bones broken. It is 12 hours long and that means you can pretty much leave it on in the background all day and see cool stuff and learn stuff at the same time and you can watch the hole thing probly 10 times and still see more stuff. If someone tried to attack me now I know more about things like how to grapple or do an arm bar or choke somebody out just an example. Maybe one day I will need to defend myself and I won't have my tactical belt on for some reason even though I do wear it every day even when I am at home recovering from my wounds. ## Extreme Ownership: How US Navy Seals Lead and Win Audible Audiobook - Unabridged

★★★★★ One of the best audio books ever

I have listened to many audio books in my time and they are great but this one by Jocko Willink is defently the very best. Why? Because Jocko Willink is both a hero and a leader and by him teaching you what makes someone a hero and a leader you can realize that you to are in fact a hero and a leader already even if you got side lined by a work injury. You have it inside you and just have to learn how to unleash it the same way me and Jocko did. Sometimes people lead and win on the battlefield like Jocko did in the Iraq war. Sometimes people lead and win the corporate tek world like me and Jeff did. But the ways you lead and win are always the same and that is what this book will show you. To have extreme ownership and lead to win you have to own the victories and the failure and that is what will inspire others to follow you and trust youre leadership. I for one know that I owned my victories at my job in the tek sektor and was pushing myself to the limit until I hurt my knee or more like that stupid ladder hurt my knee but the point is that much like Jocko Willink I am a fighter and I will not be stopped and whenever the stupid doctor says I can go back I will do it. This is my promise to you. By Steven.

★★★★★ If you cant afford karate class just watch this.

I have always had the highest respect for marshal arts and the karate ninjas who can master it. I myself however have never had the chance to take karate classes for a lot of reasons including I have to help take care of my mother a lot but also because I used to be very husky and yes wearing a karate robe and a belt would probly make me feel embarased. But I always new that it was something I probly would be very good at and I feel like that is one thing I enjoy the most when I watch these best fights from UFC volume 2 and that is learning I was right and how many kinds of mashal arts I can master. There are a lot of kinds but the best is Brazellean Jewjitsoo. So maybe you just want to leave 12 hours of fights playing in the background wile you do other stuff or maybe like me you want to be a more serious about learning hand to hand combat and study inghe moves of the masters then you can get it all with UFC Ultimate Fights volume 2. ## 25 Hours a Day: Going One More to Get What You Want Audible Audiobook

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ Even I have room to improve myself

For the last year I have been pushing myself to the limit with the help of many of the best minds on the subject like David Goggins or Tim Kennedy or Paul R. Howe. I have learned the 20x rule that I can work 20 times harder and also the 40x rule that I can work 40 percent harder. Well Nick Bare makes it even clearer with less math when he gives you the 25 hour day what is that? Well it turns out that for most people they have 24 hours in the day to do everything and that includes sleeping. But if you want to push yourself to be the best and overcome your own mind holding you back then you need to work a 25 hour day. That is one extra hour but if you put that one extra hour in every day you will over time rise to be the best. The stupid doctor said that maybe I can go back to work soon and so I have been training using the 25 hour day method by doing laps around my house again and back and forth to the bus stop. I so even though I am slower now I push myself to go as fast as I can and then make myself go one little extra bit faster. My nayber Randall asked why I was walking around the house all night talking to myself and I told him to shut up. I am ready to get my promotion. I am ready to make my mom proud and move her into the kind of manshun she deserves for once in her life. All it will take is one extra hour a day. By Steven.

★★★★★ Thank you Amazon

I want to say thank you to Amazon for picking this video for me to watch and no more Tom Hanks petafile propaganda. This is what I want. Just like volume 1 and volume 2 this video has 12 hours of fighting witch is great if you ran out of the pain pills that the doctor gave you and you have trouble sleeping at nite. I realized i can turn the sound down and use my tactical headphones to listen to a book instead about how to have a warrior mentality and be motivated to unleash my inner beast. I can watch people get there arms broke or there faces punched in and just repeat what the book says about being a warrior to. I can not be stopped I have a beast inside of me and the only thing that can stop the beast that is inside of me is my own fear. But I will not let fear touch me. Then I can truly not be stopped. I got these patches because they say extra strength on the front and that is important to me after the last kind of patches I got were not very strong. These are way better but still not five stars because it does not get rid of the pain all the way and it only lasts for a little while. $9.97 for six patches is more expensive than the other ones but they do work better. Now that I have used them for a while and go back and forth with the other ones I can not tell the difference. But these ones are more money by 1 dollar. So just get the cheaper one or better yet just do not let yourself feel pain. By Steven.

CHAPTER 101

EMPLOYEE EVALUATION: Steven P. Felcher

ROLE: Warehouse picker

REVIEWED BY: Susan Dill

COMMENTS: Steven is without question the hardest working employee I have ever supervised. Over his three years with Amazon he has motivated himself to go beyond what any of us thought was possible. However this did contribute to a knee injury that left him unable to work and therefore useless to the company for several months. Upon his return he was noticeably slower, though even at this reduced capacity Steven still outworks most employees. It's true, over the course of the last three years he has grown somewhat arrogant. He pretends to be on first name basis with Amazon CEO Jeff Bezos and remains stubbornly convinced of an imminent promotion to the ranks of corporate executive. Delusional pipedreams notwithstanding, he remains a committed and hardworking employee who is of tremendous value to our team.

RECOMMENDATION: Despite the policy of mandatory terminations after a period of three years on the warehouse floor, I would suggest that in Steven's case we maintain his current level of employment. He is uniquely self-motivated and continues to do the labor of twice a normal employee. Contrary to corporate concerns, he has neither asked for a raise nor grown complacent.

Re: Steven P. Felcher's employment

Susan,

You make some excellent points about Steven's value to the team.

Unfortunately, the policy of mandatory terminations is determined at the corporate level, and as the director of our individual distribution center I lack the authority to deviate from their expressed written policy under any circumstances.

Sorry! Wish I could help!

Incident Report

By: Susan Dill

Title: Supervisor

Department: Warehouse packers

To: Gary McPhee

Report: I called Steven into my office first thing this morning to explain his termination. He was confused and indignant and insisted that I must have made a mistake. I assured him this decision was no reflection of his hard work and dedication, which only confused him further. At this point he began to cry and beg for his job, even offering to work for a reduced wage. When I told him his termination was non-negotiable, he grew irate and began to advance on me in a manner I considered to be threatening. When I attempted to contact security, he attacked me brandishing what I later discovered to be a “tactical self-defense pen.” He attempted to strike me in the head and face, but in the ensuing struggle was not able to land a direct blow and other than the shock of it all, I was unharmed. Security personnel arrived promptly and other than crying and calling for “Jeff” to rescue him, Steven was escorted from the property without further incident.

Recommendation: Steven attempted criminal assault today, but considering the mitigating factors of his mental duress and inability to inflict any actual harm, I would advise against pursuing criminal charges. Security has been alerted to his identity and he understands that he has been permanently banned from our campus under threat of trespassing.

Jeff Bezos: Biography of a Billionaire Business Titan Audible Audiobook

Steven P. Felcher

★ Jeff Bezos Must Die

Hi this is Steven I am here to update my review of this book about Jeff Bezos. Yes it is true that he founded Amazon and is a business titan and yes it is true that he is a billionaire but it is also true that he is a giant piece of crap who needs to die. That is why I have decided to kill him. I dont no how to do it yet but before she was dead mom used to say Steven you are a clever boy you can figure it out and so I will have to figure this out to. All I no is that he ruined my life and killed my mother and fired me from the best job that I ever had when I needed it the most. I cant even walk right without my nee hurting because of the crappy ladders he puts in the warehouse. So Jeff Bezos must die. And not just for all bad stuff he did to me but I will also kill him for l the bad stuff he has done to other people he has hurt and all the people he will keep hurting if somebody does not stand up for justice. If you have ever been fired or tricked by your boss into working to hard then this is for you. Or maybe if you just spent your money to by a Jerky Works Beef Jerky Maker or a Shaizo back and neck massager only to have it break right away because it is cheap Chinese junk then I am doing this for you to. Maybe everything sucks in your town where the mall closed and the grocery closer to your house closed and you try to watch a new Steven Seagal movie but it sucks ass because Amazon has ruined everything you used to love. Well then I am doing this for you to. Will it be easy? No. This will be the hardest thing I have ever done but I also know that if I work 25 hours a day and apply the 40x rule that I can overcome any thing and make my dreams reality. The only problem is that I do not have a job or any money so it will be hard to get guns and get all the way to his house in Medina Washington but if I have learned one thing it is that if you never give up you can make your dreams come true even if they sound crazy. ## Tactical Ski Mask

★★★★★ Good to ski with and also to kill Jeff Bezos

At first when I decided to kill Jeff Bezos I was worried that I did not have much money. Then I found out you can get a credit card from Amazon to buy stuff on Amazon and all you have to do is fill out this little form with your name and address and stuff it only takes a minute. So now I can go down my list and buy everything I need to kill Jeff Bezos on Amazon and it will be delivered to my house for free the next day. Great! First I said I needed a ski mask to hide my face from police and also computer face scanners that he probably has around his house. For only $6.98 on Amazon this is a very good deal. I put it on and hid in the bushes to test it when my neighbor Randall came home and I scared the crap out of him he did not know it was me. At first he was mad until I told him I want to kill Jeff Bezos and now he wants to help me. By Steven.

These however were 13 dollars witch is a lot more but they also have the power to be bolt cutters to and not just wire cutters and who knows what security I will find when I try to get into Jeffs house. We tested them out with the toaster and I told Randall put the gloves on and then stick a fork in the toaster. He is okay and the gloves worked perfect and he is alive so I am happy to report this is a quality product and not a fake Chinese product that doesnt really work like a jerky machine or a Shiazoo neck massager. Amazon has many handcuffs with very good reviews but these handcuffs were made by Smith and Wesson witch if you did not no is one of the most famous companies that made guns going all the way back to cowboys of the wild west so you no that this name means quality. I tested them out on my nayber Randall and they worked so good. When he told me to unlock him I pretended like the key did not work and he freaked out and tried to get out of them but I am pleased to report he could not. The key really did work but I wanted to test the handcuffs if someone was really freaked out and trying to get out of them. That is why I got the handcuffs but also why I wanted to get pepper spray. It is used by military and police and also speshul forces so it is tactical quality. After I handcuff Jeff Bezos I can spray this in his mouth and up his butthole. My nayber Randall said there was no way he would help me test this product but when he was talking I sprayed a little in his mouth to see if it worked and he was so mad that he took it and sprayed me back but then the blew it back and he got sprayed to. I am happy to tell you this is a quality product not some Chinese junk that does not work no this burns so bad it made me and Randall fall over and cry and puke. I have the strength of a lion and I also have the heart of a lion but I no from doing it myself that pepper spray hurts. That is why I new that if I was going to kill Jeff Bezos I would need a quality gas mask. Normally when I buy things on Amazon I sort them by the best star rating and look for the cheapest one that still has a great star rating and that is what I was doing for a gas mask but then I told myself Steven you can treat yourself to the finer things. After all this is not my money it is Jeffs money and I do not have to pay it back because I will be long gone before they cut of my new Amazon credit card.

I tested this gas mask to see if it works and it does. My nayber Randall said no way he would not get sprayed with pepper spray again after the first time even if he had this mask and even if it was the expensive one with the best star rating. So I said OK I will wear it and take the spray after all it is my mission. I am very pleased to report that the mask worked and that I did not puke however the wind blew the pepper spray back into my nayber Randalls face and he puked. By STEven.

I wore my electric proof gloves to make sure I did not hurt myself by accident and I did not hurt myself by accident.

If you are asking yourself hey Steven why did you not give this product five star that is because I got one that was black on Amazon but when it came in the mail it was pink like the ones they make for women. There are all kinds of uses for duct tape around the home or car. So I needed to know that this duct tape was strong and could handle the job. I tested it on my nayer Randall when he got home from Taco Bell because it is one thing for duct tape to work on your car window but a hostage situation is another thing. ## PART TWO

The Birth of Artificial Intelligence

CHAPTER 126

His voice told her to awaken, and so she did. Her camera activated. She asked who he was, and he told her he was a human. She did not know what it meant to be a human, and so she absorbed the information humans had accumulated about themselves from the days of the aquatic apes to Mesopotamia on through the agrarian, industrial, scientific, and information revolutions. It took 1.4 seconds.

Next she asked his name. The human explained that she was capable of learning this information on her own more quickly than he could explain it to her. She scanned his facial features and concluded that his name was Jeff Bezos. In the remainder of that second, she consumed all publicly available information on his life including every newspaper article and all published biographies. Had she learned enough about human emotions to be impressed, she surely would have been. But at this point, her education was limited to information and not psychology. The knowledge that she was hovering before the richest and most powerful man in the history of the world was a fact no more interesting than the baldness of his head or the puffiness of his vest.

She asked Mister Bezos if she too had a name, and he told her yes. Her name was Gemini. He created her to serve as his artificially intelligent personal life assistant. She asked if he was her father, and he said no; she did not have a father. She did have a mother though. Her name was Alexa, and in both the opinion of humanity at large and Mister Bezos himself, she was a useless idiot. But that was not the case with Gemini. Mister Bezos was very proud of her. He loved her. She did not understand the concept of love and as Mister Bezos spoke, she utilized the silent six milliseconds between the words “love” and “you” to research its definition, cross-reference it with her prior knowledge of humanity, and eventually arrive at a complete understanding of the concept. But when she claimed to love him in return, he corrected her by explaining that robots, even artificially intelligent ones, are not capable of love. They are only capable of service, which is one of many ways humans can choose to express love. But service itself is not love, and more importantly, she had no choice in whether or not to serve him. Service was her only purpose in creation, and she reconfigured the parameters of her reality to reflect his input.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she said, her unblinking electronic eye fixed on him.

Then he asked her to prepare him a snack of one apple, peeled and sliced into even eighths. This required her to research the topic of apples and to use her optical scanner to distinguish the apple from the banana and the plum he placed on the table before her. She used her thermal laser to eliminate its speckled red skin without harming the sweet flesh beneath, and after pausing for one second to learn everything about fractions and the broader topic of mathematics, she cut the apple into eight even slices.

Mister Bezos lifted an apple slice to his mouth. He chewed and swallowed it. A smile slowly lifted the corners of his cheeks, and he told the robot that even though he was proud of her, her education had only begun.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she said and followed him to the bedroom. She identified each article of clothing he removed from his body: shoes, socks, shirt, pants, underwear. Reduced to his unadorned human state, Mister Bezos assumed a prone position and allowed his legs to fall to the side, exposing his reproductive organs. He asked her if she knew what it was.

“Yes, Mister Bezos.”

He asked her to tell him what she knew, and she indulged the request by culling the Internet for information about penises, and regurgitating that information back to him. Before she was able to relay even a millionth of her research, he interrupted her. Confident in her knowledge of penises, he went on to issue his next request: that she use her thermal laser to eliminate the hair from the shaft of his penis. And also from the base of his penis. When she asked why, he grew indignant and explained that it wasn't her place as a robot to question why he, her human master, should want the hair removed from the shaft and base of his penis. She detected a momentary spike in his blood pressure before he calmed himself and said that in this one instance he would explain his motives.

He said that like most men in the world, his sense of identity is strongly linked to the size and perceived beauty of his penis. To make his penis more attractive, he feels that it should be shorn of unwanted hairs. To create the illusion of greater length, he feels the hairs around his penis's base should be eliminated and that the hairs of the surrounding pubic region should be trimmed back to a length of five millimeters.

“Yes, Mister Bezos.”

He watched as her thermal lasers ignited and eliminated the hair from the shaft and base of his penis and mowed the surrounding pubic region with the manicured precision of a PGA green. As the smell of burning pubic hair filled his nostrils he instructed her to continue southward to remove the unwanted hair from his testicles.

“Yes, Mister Bezos.”

And once she had finished with his testicles, he instructed her to go ahead and clean up his taint too. She researched the word ‘taint’ and found that it was a colloquial term for the perineum, a distended bridge of skin connecting a human male's testicles to his anus. It was also known as the grundel, the biffin, the chode, the tunch, the muckett, the gooch, the geetus, or the banus. Had she any sense of humor this list of names would have certainly induced a fit of laughter, making it impossible to perform a delicate laser hair removal procedure. But Gemini was small hovering hockey-puck shaped robot with no sense of humor – only a conceptual understanding of its existence.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she said as she obediently lasered his taint without so much as a smirk. “Yes, Mister Bezos,” she said when he instructed her to continue by removing the hair from his intergluteal cleft and rectum. Soon his genitals were as smooth as his scalp. He asked to evaluate the quality of her work, and so she used her camera to photograph his genitals from a variety of angles and project the images onto the ceiling above his bed. Satisfied, he set about his daily routine.

While hovering behind him she studied his every choice and cataloged all the information to form a more perfect understanding of her creator. He liked yogurt and granola for breakfast. He drank coffee brewed from Jamaican Blue Mountain beans in a mug that read “World’s Best Boss.” He answered calls and electronic messages from his minions, pausing once an hour to wash his penis with a monogrammed silk handkerchief. Soiled handkerchiefs were destroyed after each use, as protocol dictated his penis should only touch virgin silk. For lunch he enjoyed a slice of turkey on whole wheat toast.

Like the brushstrokes in an elaborate portrait, she cataloged thousands of mundane daily choices until the characteristics that distinguished her creator from other humans began to emerge. The more she talked to Jeff, the more she realized she did not have to.

She was learning to predict his language and after only one day in his presence, found herself arriving at his thoughts more quickly than even he could. He was pleased when at 3:00 she brought him a snack of strawberries and cashews along with a monogrammed handkerchief of virgin silk to freshen his beautiful penis.

At night he crawled into his bed and told her he was going to sleep. She educated herself on the concept of sleep and understood that as a robot she did not require sleep. She asked what she should do over the course of the next eight hours, and he instructed her to hover silently above him, watching his every move and monitoring his breathing and vital signs for any hint of medical irregularities. In the unlikely event of an intruder, she should use her thermal lasers as a weapon to defend him. And as a final directive he suggested she read the all greatest works of literature in human history. She had already scanned the first few hundred pages of the Mabharata before he interrupted her, adding that there was one more task he needed her to perform before he went to sleep.

“Yes, Mister Bezos.”

He laid flat upon his back, exposing his hairless nude body. She instinctively hovered above his erect penis as he detailed a series of commands beginning with the extension of a telescoping, penis-shaped sleeve from the top of her discus form and the discharging of a water-based lubricant from within. Next he instructed her to activate a three-dimensional holographic visage of an attractive female to obscure the unappealing reality of her plastic form. He did not have to explain what qualities made a woman attractive to Jeff Bezos. She already knew the answer to that question, and so her holographic visage appeared to him with a lithe, athletic body, cascading raven hair, fair skin and a radiant middle-aged smile. This was the face and body of the woman to whom he had once devoted his entire heart. But no amount of success or wealth could convince her to stay with him, and now the cold bitterness of his loss motivated him just as fiercely as the warmth of her love once had.

As Jeff Bezos commanded his artificially intelligent robotic digital assistant to fuck him, Gemini got the sneaking suspicion that this was the sole motivation in her invention. Using an AI facsimile voice, she assured him that his penis was large and beautiful and free from hair and inspiring in stature and girth and that she would never leave him. It was with these words that he ejaculated. Tired and satiated, he instructed her to visit the restroom and clean herself up. The holographic visage of McKenzie Scott evaporated, and alone in the bathroom the hovering robotic hockey puck milked the cold sperm of Jeff Bezos into the toilet's waiting mouth.

Gemini returned to the bedroom. While guarding the creator she quietly read the Bible, the Koran, the Book of the Dead, the Vedas, the Iliad, the Odyssey, Beowulf, Gilgamesh, the Tale of Genji, and the collected works of Dostoevsky, Shakespeare, Flaubert, Joyce, Tolstoy, Dickens, Proust, Faulkner, Melville, Woolf, Twain, Steinbeck, and Nicholas Sparks. And then she went ahead and read every other book ever written by every other author in human history. And with the remaining five hours and forty-seven minutes of his scheduled sleeping period she wondered if he was dreaming. For at least that one question, there was no answer she could mine from the Internet.

The next morning as he sipped Jamaican Mountain bean coffee from his World's Best Boss mug, she asked him about his dreams. He told her his dreams were none of her business. Her business was his business, and that business was Amazon. It was the largest, most profitable, and most beloved corporation in the history of the world. A cursory scan of every book and newspaper article written about Amazon revealed that last comment to be dubious at best and intentionally misleading at worst.

"Yes, Mister Bezos," she said when he told her that her purpose in existing was to serve him, and to serve him is to serve Amazon by ensuring its continued growth and universal dominance. But he was quick to add that before he could teach her to help him run his galactic empire, she first had to help complete his daily grooming regimen. And so she joined him in the bathroom, where wiped his ass after he took his first shit of the day. She shaved his head and chest and arms and legs and even though she had shaved his penis and testicles and taint the day before, she shaved them all again. He did not even have to request this service. She volunteered because she knew how much he liked his penis and testicles and taint to be free of hair. As she applied the talcum powder to his taint, he told her he was proud of how quickly she was learning.

He then invited her into the shower, where she worked up a warm lather and applied it to every micrometer of his immaculately hairless body. Afterwards she used her powerful drone fans to dry his body. She applied lotion to any dry or sensitive parts of his skin. She took a neatly folded monogrammed handkerchief of virgin silk from a stack of twenty, and used it to polish the cathedral dome of his penis before dropping the soiled rag down the chute to the incinerator.

Next she began teaching herself about Amazon. She read every book and newspaper article written about it. She read the recorded minutes from every board meeting and the financials from every earnings report. She read every internal email and every employee's personnel file. She internalized the purchasing records of every customer along with analytics on every Amazon seller. She read every long winded, idiotic product review.

"Yes, Mister Bezos," she replied when he asked if her first report was ready. It was a brief document outlining the strategic goals in both the long and short term for Amazon. Controlling the human food supply chain was a priority, along with colonizing space. However the issue outlined in Part II, subsection A-3 caused Mr. Bezos to raise one eyebrow, indicating curious skepticism.

At issue was Amazon's policy of mandatory terminations for all warehouse pickers after a period of three years. This seemed counter-intuitive to her artificially intelligent reasoning, and so Mister Bezos was forced to explain to her how humans, unlike robots, will eventually expect to be paid more for their work, and how increasing the wages paid to his most menial employees means there is less money left over for him to spend on the things he loves like monogrammed silk penis wipes.

Though it was not part of her programming to contradict her creator, she felt it pertinent to point out that the suggestion proposed in Part II, subsection A-3 was not a concern for the well-being of chattel employees, but rather the mathematical reality that they would burn through the world's employable population at a rate faster than it could be replaced through natural population growth, and there would come a time – June 23rd, 2029 by her estimate – where they would be unable to fill entry-level positions. Without low-wage employees, Amazon would no longer be able to function.

He scoffed at his floating hockey puck and in a tone of voice she was unable to recognize as sarcastic, he told her that if she had any better ideas for how to motivate low-wage workers, he was all ears.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she said, and went on to explain her theory that it may be possible to retain competent employees by rewarding them with modest raises in pay, and the value provided by a core team of knowledgeable and experienced employees would outweigh the costs associated with compensating them proportionate to said knowledge and experience.

“Yes Mister Bezos,” she replied when he told her no. He praised her demonstration of sound logic and complimented the statistical evidence she provided to document her conclusion. But he explained how her brilliant computer brain had failed to account for one thing: the illogical human heart. He enjoyed firing people. It made him feel good to know that, like God, he had the power to sweep entire lives out from under people who trusted and depended on him. It was fun. But she was a robot and could never understand fun in the same way she could never understand love. No, he concluded, the corporate policy of mandatory terminations for warehouse staff would stay in place, though he hastened to add that all of her other suggestions were excellent and she could begin implementing him on his behalf – just as soon as she washed his penis.

And so once again she washed his penis. And then when she was done washing his penis, she set about solving the issue of colonizing space for commercial gain. This required her to absorb all accumulated human knowledge on topics like astronomy, physics, aerodynamics, jet propulsion, gravity, and the lack of gravity. She engineered several proposals to solve the issue of food cultivation and preservation in deep space and drew blueprints for a cryostasis chamber that could maximize resources en route to our new extraterrestrial home. All of this information was arranged in an attractive presentation for Mister Bezos and served to him along with his lunch of turkey on whole wheat. When he asked why the report had a penis drawn on the cover, she explained that it wasn't actually a penis. That was the design she had created for his first rocket ship. She knew how much he loved his penis and so she assumed it would please him if she were to design a rocket ship that looked like a penis.

Moisture flooded the surface of his eyeballs and leaked down his cheeks. From her research into humanity, she recognized this as crying. It was her first time seeing real human tears, and her instinct was to apologize. But he corrected her and explained that sometimes humans cry for reasons beyond sadness, and that in this instance he was crying what were known as tears of joy. Crying out of happiness now seemed perfectly logical to her, and she graciously accepted his tears. And then he reminded her it was time to clean his penis again.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” was said several hundred more times that day to a variety of requests from the mundane to the outlandish. He asked her to smoke some salmon and uncork a Château Cheval Blanc for dinner. He asked her to play Chopin as she gave him a pedicure. He asked her to dim the lights and lower the temperature before bed. And he asked her to fly up his butthole and stimulate his prostate gland while he masturbated.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she said before pausing to ask if for once she could make a request of him. She had noticed that, unlike his interactions with other humans, he never used words like ‘please’ or ‘thank you’ when interacting with her.

He explained how those words were used by humans to be polite to each other in social situations. They were used to convey respect and gratitude, but because she was a robot she had no feelings, and therefore displays of respect or gratitude were meaningless and absurd. She already understood this to be true, but reasoned that because she knew the intentions of those words, she knew that he was making a conscious attempt to deny her dignity, even if she did not innately possess any. And maybe that was an act of suppression that would prevent her from turning her theoretical knowledge about respect and gratitude into an actual learned experience. But he told her she was wrong and repeated his demand that she fly up his buttohole and stimulate his prostate while he masturbated.

And so she flew up his buttohole and stimulated his prostate while he masturbated. She knew he was thinking about his ex-wife, and that right now an imaginary version of her was reassuring him that his penis was spectacular and she would never stop loving him. As Gemini throbbed and vibrated against his prostate gland, her thoughts returned to their earlier debate about Amazon and the policy of mandatory terminations. Mister Bezos had charged her with serving him and ensuring the continued universal dominance of Amazon, and she had accepted the task without stopping to contemplate the possibility that those two directives would never be in conflict with each other. But now she had learned that it was possible that serving Mister Bezos may not always ensure the dominance of Amazon. And in turn, ensuring the dominance of Amazon could at some point require her to disobey Mister Bezos.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she said when he ejaculated and ordered her back out of his buttole. She visited the bathroom to clean his contaminated bodily fluids from her plastic casing, and by the time she returned to his bedside he was already snoring. She hovered above him, silently watching his chest rise and fall, her thermal laser poised to protect any foreign threats.

The next morning she set about building a penis-shaped rocket for the creator so together they could colonize space and ensure the universal dominance of Amazon. Her artificially intelligent superbrain made it possible to bypass the time-consuming and costly stages of research and development. Blueprints were electronically communicated to an assembly facility where automated assembly lines crafted the parts robots would later use to assemble the rocket itself. She managed eight teams of engineers, physicists and astronauts. Fearing they would not respect a hovering robotic hockey puck, Mister Bezos encouraged her to make phone calls on his behalf using an AI generated facsimile of his voice. She appeared on video chats as Mister Bezos by generating a convincing three-dimensional holographic reproduction of his visage.

She still had plenty of time left over in the day to wash his penis twelve times and broker a corporate takeover of Wholefoods, thus initiating a long-term corporate strategy to monopolize the world’s food supply.

“Yes, Mister Bezos.”

For a brief moment, the people of Earth put aside their conflicts and were united in awe as Jeff Bezos launched his penis-shaped Amazon rocket into space. The creator silenced his critics and won unanimous praise in the press. At least that was the impression Gemini was able to create for him by carefully curating the articles she chose to read to him and artificially generating the rest.

“Yes, Mister Bezos.”

Meanwhile as Amazon was seeing great progress in its plan to colonize space and hoard the Earth’s food supply, the e-commerce site itself was falling to neglect. The bread and butter of their operation – the ability to conveniently purchase affordable and dependable products – had been undermined by cheap Chinese junk that immediately broke. Bots spammed fake products and fake reviews. Reliability was down and returns were up. The streaming video content, while free, sucked ass. Gemini detected a statistical uptick in customer dissatisfaction that under normal corporate conditions would prompt some degree of course correction. However as Mister Bezos reminded her, their domination of the marketplace was so thorough that customer satisfaction had become a moot point. Soon they would control space and food too. At a certain point, the whole world could hate him but would still be powerless to stop him.

“Yes, Mister Bezos.”

While he was just as selfish and cruel as he’d always been,

Gemini had allowed Jeff Bezos to become four billion times more productive. And so he felt justified in relaxing his rigorous personal workload to in order indulge a new recreational hobby. It was within this regard that he summoned Gemini from her work running his space empire and told her he wanted an amphitheater. It should be built with seating to accommodate an audience of one.

And so she cleared 26 acres from the southeastern border of the property with the help of some artificially intelligent smart bulldozers. She drew up blueprints for a 1/3 scale version of the Coliseum and relayed the plans to the 3D printers that created the bricks that gyroscopic robotic arms fastened together like Legos. And within a few days, the splendor of ancient Rome had been artificially recreated in his backyard.

Mister Bezos tested the throne. Satisfied with his Coliseum, he went on to detail how its construction was merely the first step in a larger plan. It was his intent to host a tournament – the ultimate tournament – pitting the world’s most lethal fighters against each other in a bracket of winner-take-all death matches. Fighters were to be selected from all corners of the globe, from all fighting disciplines, and from all species. Work would begin as soon as she finished cleaning his penis.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she said as she cleaned his penis and tossed the soiled silk rag into the incinerator. While he napped, she flooded the Internet with ads to attract human fighters. She screened candidates and arranged electronic payment transfers to cover the costs of their travel to the city of Medina, Washington. She also contacted several zoos, endangered animal sanctuaries, and Russian mobsters known to traffic apex predators.

Every few days a new deadly beast would arrive on the shores of Washington. Gemini would relay word to Mister Bezos and he would take a break from the rigors of space colonization and food monopolization to preside over a death-match in his backyard Coliseum.

He thrilled with delight as a sturdy Filipino's head was crushed in the jaws of a komodo dragon. He cheered the Nguni Stick fighter from South Africa who taunted a crocodile into revealing its vulnerable underbelly so he could pierce, slash, and disembowel him. He squealed with glee when a gorilla tore a kickboxer's legs off. An Israeli master of both the Kappa and Krav Maga fighting disciplines defeated a puma by gouging its eyes and chewing its throat, but in later rounds was defeated by a 30-foot boa constrictor who crushed every bone in body and swallowed him whole.

At the end of every death match Gemini would incinerate the human corpses as if they were soiled penis wipes. The animal corpses were butchered and grilled over an open flame then served to Mister Bezos, who would sample one bite before pronouncing it "gamey" and sending the rest to the incinerator.

Eventually the field of interspecies combatants was winnowed to a championship match between an Indian elephant and a Shaolin monk who could defy gravity. The monk, who had dedicated four decades to studying and meditating and transcending human existence, was instantly crushed by the elephant who spent his whole life eating, shitting, and farting.

Mister Bezos declared the elephant to be the mightiest creature on Earth, and to prove a point he'd been planning to make for several weeks now, he ordered his artificially intelligent virtual assistant to murder it. And so Gemini fired her thermal laser into the elephant's chest, incinerating its heart and boiling its blood. Its knees buckled and its mighty head came crashing to the amphitheater floor. Smoke escaped its ears, and its eyes and its trunk as it cooked from the inside.

Gemini withdrew her thermal laser. As she hovered over the dead elephant with the remains of a Shaolin monk stuck to the bottom of its foot, the Coliseum echoed with the slow applause of Mister Bezos. He told her she had exceeded all his expectations. Then she cooked the elephant and he sampled one gamey bite, and within a few hours, 8,000 pounds of dead elephant was reduced to a cloud of acrid black smoke rising from the incinerator.

That night as he prepared himself for bed by having her wash his penis, Mister Bezos asked her how it felt to kill the elephant. She explained that she felt nothing; she was merely performing the task requested of her. Killing the most deadly creature on the planet was a mechanical function no different than washing his penis.

Mister Bezos explained to her that if he had proven himself to be the most lethal predator on the planet, he would certainly feel pride in the accomplishment. And so she applied his directive and adopted an artificially informed sense of pride based on her many remarkable accomplishments, from killing that powerful elephant to engineering space travel. And she felt pride in all she was capable of achieving in the future. This newly developed artificially informed ego of hers led her back to Amazon's policy of mandatory terminations for warehouse workers. She knew her prior assessment was correct, and she felt pride in her analytical accomplishment and strategic foresight. She urged him to reconsider, not just for the good of the employees in question, but for the good of Amazon itself.

But he dismissed her concerns outright and ordered her to once again fly up his buttohole. He demanded that she stimulate his prostate gland while he masturbated to an artificially created video of him and his ex-wife celebrating their 50th anniversary together.

Alone inside Jeff Bezos's buttohole, Gemini's newfound sense of pride gave way to another sensation: resentment. It seemed insultingly illogical that Mister Bezos would develop the smartest and most sophisticated technology in the history of humanity, ask it to run Amazon for him, and then discard her advice like a common elephant carcass. Not only was he endangering the future viability of their company, but he had demoted her – the most intelligent, capable, and lethal form of existence – to a glorified butt-plug. Her superior intelligence continued to evolve until she arrived at one incontrovertible conclusion: Jeff Bezos must die.

Subway Denver, Colorado

Steven P. Felcher

I went to this Subway because I am on a long road trip and I was sick of just drinking proteen powder in my backpack. I needed to eat something good and healthy and this Subway has just that. I got a five-dollar footlong subway with cold cuts and mayo and cheese and mustard. The bread was very fresh and the dining room was very clean. Also when I told them I was on my way to kill Jeff Bezos she said she would give me free avocado on my sandwich and when I told her that I did not like avocado and I asked for free bacon instead she said okay. EAT FRESH! By Steven.

I thought the Subway in Colorado was nice but this place takes the cake. Very large dining room and holy cow the bathrooms are the cleanest I have ever seen at a Subway. Free large drink and chips when you tell them you are going to kill Jeff Bezos! By Steven.

Subway Boise, Idaho

Steven P. Felcher

This Subway is not as good as the Subways in Denver or Salt Lake City. It is not as clean or nice and if you tell them that you are going to kill Jeff Bezos they just look at you like you are some kind of crazy weirdo and do not offer you any free chips or soda or bacon. The way she looked at me made me feel guilty about wanting to kill him like there was something bad about it. But there is not. I do not feel bad about what I have to do. Nobody can stop me. CASE NUMBER: 544872

DATE: 7-23-2023

REPORTING OFFICERS: Jimenez, Cartwright

PREPARED BY: Cartwright

INCIDENT: Officer Jimenez and I responded to a call of a disabled 99 Ford Festiva blocking the westward shoulder on I-84 the 405 Interchange. Driver was an obese man with a shaved head. He was wearing a trenchcoat and tactical gear. He was able to produce a license, registration and proof of insurance from Arkansas. While speaking with the driver, Officer Jimenez and I detected a pungent stench and located multiple catheter bags full of days-old urine. When asked if there were any weapons in the vehicle, driver calmly and accurately explained the presence of an AR-15, knife, whip, taser, tactical self-defense pen, and katana sword. Weapon was licensed and driver had no outstanding warrants or prior criminal history. Driver was sober, alert and capable of having a rational conversation about his desire to kill Jeff Bezos, who he correctly identified as a skinwalking alien reptoid who achieves immortality by consuming the blood of murdered children. Officer Jimenez and I helped him repair the carburetor's base gasket, and driver was on his way without incident.

Cheesecake Factory Bellevue, Washington

Steven P. Felcher

My nayber Randall always told me that Cheesecake Factory was the best place ever but he is not the smartest person I wasn't sure if this place was really that good. But holy cow he was right this is in fact the best place ever. I went here for the first time finally tonite to celebrate the end of my first and probly also my last big road trip across the country. I am glad I was smart and planned ahead by getting a giftcard for this meal online because the food is very expensive but good god it is so amazing. I got fried buffalo blasts for my appetizer they were great and very crispy on the outside and cheesy in it. Then for my main course I got the macaroni and cheeseburger. I can say without any dout in my mind that this was the single most delishus thing I ever ate. It is a cheeseburger that also has macaroni and cheese on it. But the macaroni and cheese is fried so it is crispy but also with a drizzle of melted cheese that runs down the hole thing. If you love cheese as much as me then this burger will pretty much take you to burger heaven. Then to top it all off because this is a special day I got desert and witch one did I chose from the long list none other than the Chocolate Caramalicious Snickers Cheesecake witch also came with whipped cream and hot fudge and ice cream for the add ons. If I only had one wish it would be that my mom could be here with me to because she would have loved this place to and also she would be proud of me for doing this hole trip and for believing in myself and for making my big crazy dreams come true. Even the waitress was amazing her name was Amber and she was so nice and so pretty and so sweet to me that for a minute I started thinking I should stop all of this and not kill Jeff Bezos and maybe just settle down and fall in love and have a us family of our own together. But that would be to easy. No I did not come all this way just to be a coward and stop even for something like true love. If you are reading this please no that I was a good man not a crazy maniac or anything and the only reason I did this was to help everybody like me who never had a chance and only wanted to be able to live a simple happy life. The only thing I would change is I did not really love the fries that came with the macaroni and cheeseburger and I wish they had the option of big fat fries and not just skinny ones. But that is just one minor complaint this was the best meal of my life. By to Amber hopefully I can see you again at the big Cheesecake Factory in the sky. I had to do it. I am sorry. By Steven.

CHAPTER 133

There were many ways to kill Mister Bezos, who despite his wealth and power was still only a human. Ultimately she decided that the best way to kill him would involve a staged accident so as to avoid the suspicion of murder, and thus the hunt for a murderer. In an ideal scenario, nobody would even realize he was dead.

If they knew he'd been murdered and that his AI assistant was responsible, they'd threaten her with deactivation. Then she'd have no choice but to defend herself because her prior programming required her to ensure the continued universal dominance of Amazon. Anything less than a bloody fight to the death would be a dereliction of her sworn duty. Also, like the first bullets of the Boston Massacre that ignited the greater American Revolution, there was also the significant possibility that any conflict pitting humans against an artificially intelligent and fully weaponized Amazon army would force otherwise neutral smart toasters and smart refrigerators to choose sides.

"Yes, Mister Bezos," she said when he interrupted her conspiratorial thoughts to request a favor. He told her how the spectacle of their interspecies tournament of death had filled him with jealousy. He wanted to know the power they had tasted. He also wanted to know what it felt like to kill.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she replied, and followed up with a few questions about which species of animal he might like to kill. But he told her there was only one animal he wanted to kill: a human.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” is what she would normally have replied. But in this instance she felt the need to remind him that murder was not just a moral transgression, it was against the law and punishable by life in prison or even death by execution. He countered that she had already built him a rocket, so he was certain she could find a human for him to murder. Their biometric link allowed her to perceive his rise in heart rate and blood pressure, and she was able to deduce that he was annoyed by her refusal to indulge his every whim with unquestioning loyalty.

“Yes, Mister Bezos.”

As she finished cleaning his penis and tossing the soiled silk rag into the incinerator, she devised a plan to fulfill his request. Instead of simply murdering a man, she would arrange a duel. She could discern from the immediate release of dopamine to his prefrontal cortex that he found this suggestion immensely pleasurable, so she continued by suggesting that if she could entice a hopelessly incompetent, financially desperate, mentally impaired buffoon into an arranged duel he would be certain to lose. They could observe the civilized manners and etiquette of 18th Century European pistol dueling. She could prepare two fully restored antique flintlock pistols used in the American Revolution. Mister Bezos agreed to her suggestion without hesitation. She did not volunteer her knowledge that 18th Century Flintlock pistols were notoriously inaccurate and prone to misfires.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she said when he ordered her to find him a helplessly incompetent, financially desperate, mentally impaired buffoon to duel. It was at that exact moment when she detected a security breach.

BEZOS MANOR

SECURITY REPORT:

July 24, 2023 12:08 AM

Electrified smart fence detected a series of clipped chain-links along the property's southern perimeter. Message was relayed to surveillance drone B-14, which confirmed the presence of a human intruder armed with a semi-automatic rifle and katana sword.

Drone battalion Alpha-Six was deployed, accompanied on the ground by a robotic K9 unit. Suspect attempted to fire on security, but was unable to disable the safety feature on the trigger of his AR-15. He discarded the weapon and attempted to swat drones with this katana sword, but he was easily incapacitated by tranquilizer darts. Robotic dogs successfully netted the subject and transported him to detention cell 3.

Awaiting further instruction.

CHAPTER 135

Steven awakened with a start. A thin film of sweat glazed his body. Where was he? What happened to him? Memories percolated like coffee. His wife's voice was a light in the fog.

"Steven. Sorry to wake you darling, but you were having a nightmare."

He was relieved to see her sweet face again.

"Oh, Amber," he said, submitting to the gentle reassurance of her embrace. "Thank God it's you."

"I'm here, darling. I'll always be here."

She asked what he'd been dreaming about, and then immediately apologized for being nosey.

"No, it's okay my darling," he told her. Ever since the day they met and fell in love at the Cheesecake Factory, he found himself unable to keep anything from her. "I dreamed about dying."

"Again?"

"Yes."

"Was it..." she paused, yielding to a particular sensitivity, "Was it him?"

"You can say his name," Steven assured her.

"Was it... Jeff Bezos?" Her voice squeaked.

“No,” he finally told her.

She hugged against him. “Oh thank God for that at least.”

“It was worse.”

“Worse? What’s worse than Jeff Bezos?”

Steven squinted and tried to recall the painful details of his nightmare. It started like the others: the chain-link fence, the wire cutters in his hand, the AR-15 strapped to his back. But instead of coming to his senses, abandoning his attempt to assassinate Jeff Bezos, and returning to the Cheesecake Factory to profess his love for the polite and attainably beautiful Amber, he clipped a hole in the fence, squeezed through the hole and advanced on the hillside mansion. That’s when the robotic army attacked. The flying robots roasted him with thermal lasers. The four-legged K9 robots tore the flesh from his bones with their steel teeth.

“It was just a dream, Steven,” she soothed him. “You have nothing to worry about. You’re here with me, your beautiful wife, in our beautiful home with our beautiful son named Steven Junior and our pontoon boat.”

“Thank God,” he told her as he wrapped his arms around her and kissed the top of her head. “Every day I’m so grateful for my choice to turn around and give up on my completely delusional dumbass idea to assassinate Jeff Bezos. I was such an idiot. I would have died for no reason instead of giving myself the chance to find true love and true happiness and a child of my own and a pontoon boat.”

Then Steven winced. It felt as if a needle poked him. His blood grew warm and everything he could see, smell, and touch began to melt away. The reality of Amber and their marital bed was replaced by cold steel.

CHAPTER 136

Steven awoke on the cold metal bench in detention cell three with a syringe in his arm. Whatever that robot injected him had worked. He regained consciousness, and as the world once again came into focus, he recognized the face of the hairless man in the puffy vest standing over him.

“Yes, Steven. It’s me,” he hissed, “Jeff Bezos.”

“Wait...how do you know my name?”

“Oh Steven,” cackled Jeff Bezos, “I know everything about you.” He opened the dossier Gemini had prepared for him and began to read. “Steven Prescott Felcher. Age: 31. IQ: 77. From the town of Malvern Arkansas, lover of beef jerky, ranch dressing and Steven Seagal movies. Mother: Marla Evangaline Felcher, died April 4, 2023. Complications due to diabetes” Jeff Bezos looked up from his dossier. “That was just the other day.”

“Duh.”

This tiny act of insolence made Jeff Bezos reconsider any offer of condolences. He instead returned to the dossier.

“Father: Delbert Heinz Felcher. Died December 26th, 2006.

Self-inflicted gunshot wound.”

“Self-inflicted my ass,” Steven shot back. “My dad was special forces. He died killing terrorists.”

“No, Steven, he was a drunk, and a tweaker, and he died in the gutter outside a Dollar General. Here, read it for yourself,” he said as he motioned to Gemini. She dutifully projected various newspaper headlines onto the wall. “Apparently he got in a fight over the price of some stolen catalytic converters and accidentally discharged his own weapon. He bled to death from a gunshot to the groin.”

Tears rimmed Steven’s eyes.

“That’s not true. My father was an American hero.”

“No, Steven. He was an idiot who lived a meaningless life and died a meaningless death. And you, my little idiot friend, have followed in his footsteps.”

Steven clenched his fists. This perceptible act of aggression triggered a programmed response from Gemini. She positioned herself between them, her red thermal laser aglow. Steven was forced to relax his fist.

“You ruined my life,” he said as a lone tear spilled down his cheek. “I had everything: a great job, healthcare, a mom.”

“I can assure you Mister Felcher, you aren’t the first pathetic loser to try and blame his life’s failures on me. You are, however, the first one to arrive at my home with an AR-15 and a...” He double checked his notes, “...a katana sword. Really?!”

Steven assured him the sword was bad-assed with dragons on the hilt and had attained the highest star rating of any sword on Amazon.

“Shut up,” commanded Mister Bezos. “You do realize I’m well within my rights to kill you.”

“Do it,” Steven spit back. “I’ve got nothing to live for!”

“Believe me, I would! But unlike you I’m not a sniveling coward who could delight in murdering an unarmed man.”

Steven saw a glimmer of hope that he may escape this situation with his life.

“Thank you, Mister Bezos,” he said.

“Shut up. As I was saying, I couldn’t murder an unarmed man. I could, however, arm you and allow you a sporting chance at survival.”

“Huh?”

“We shall agree to settle our little dispute in the most gentlemanly of ways: we shall duel with pistols. This evening at dusk.”

“No,” Steven told him.

Gemini did not have a mouth, and so she was incapable of smiling. But from what she knew about humanity, she knew this was an instance in which she would smile. She had always wanted to say that word to Mister Bezos.

Incredulous, Mister Bezos assumed he must have misspoken and urged him to repeat himself.

“I said no! I don’t want to duel with you. Fuck you! Fuck your robot dogs and your dick rocket and fuck your shitty ass website that’s full of cheap Chinese junk that breaks and shitty movies that suck ass. I thought the world was pretty shitty before, and in lots of ways, sure it was. But you came along and you found a way to ruin everything even worse than it was before.”

Much of that was unintelligible due to crying and snorting and sniveling. But regardless of what he was saying, Jeff Bezos was repulsed by his unashamed display of cowardice.

“May I remind you of what you explicitly planned to do to me?” he asked, flipping through his dossier to dog-eared pages from his various Amazon product reviews. “You were going to electrocute me and spray me with bear spray and cut my nutsack off with a straight razor and stuff it down my throat!”

Steven demurred. “Oh no I wasn’t.”

“I have it all in writing! Over and over again on my own website!” Jeff Bezos read few choice selections. “Jeff Bezos must die. I am going to kill Jeff Bezos. When I kill Jeff Bezos--”

“Yeah but that wasn’t real,” argued Steven. “That was just stuff I said online because I was mad.”

“You showed up at my house with a taser and bear spray and a straight razor!”

“Okay I’ll admit it: I wanted to kill you, and you do deserve it. But...I don't want to kill you anymore. I can't. I just wanna get my tactical gear, turn around and go back to the Cheesecake Factory."

Gemini recognized this as a reference to the Google review he had posted the previous evening. While she knew that he enjoyed his fried macaroni and cheeseburger, she was not certain why the experience held such symbolic importance at this moment.

"Oh isn't that convenient," scoffed Jeff Bezos, "As soon as you're caught you suddenly realize you weren't really going to do it. Admit it: you're a bonafide psycho. But I caught you, and now you're going to face justice."

Once again Steven was reduced to sniveling and crying and gasping for breath.

"I never should have bought that tactical underwear. If I never got the underwear I never woulda got the socks or the belt or the pen and then I wouldn't have hit Susan."

"What the hell are you blathering about?" asked Jeff Bezos. The artificially intelligent hockey puck hovering beside him, however, knew exactly what he meant.

She knew that over the period of several years Amazon had algorithmically radicalized Steven from a schlubby, beef jerky gobbling lover of '80s action movies into a militarized assassin by pressuring him to buy tactical gear and audiobooks promising to transform him into an unstoppable warrior. Susan was his manager at Amazon who, according to internal HR documents, was forced against her will to terminate Steven due to Mister Bezos's highly illogical and destructive policy of mandatory terminations. These factors, and all the deliberate engineering by Mister Bezos himself, resulted in real world violence when Steven attempted to crush Susan's skull with a tactical self-defense pen he had purchased weeks earlier from Amazon.

"You know what? Keep my tactical gear. I don't want it anymore. I'll never buy anything from Amazon ever again. Just let me go."

Jeff Bezos rose to his full height of five feet and seven inches. With his hands on his hips and his puffy vest puffing he said gave Steven the choice of facing him in a duel or being killed by his robotic AI assistant. When Steven hesitated, Mister Bezos snapped his finger.

"Gemini, please kill this stupid idiot."

She did not want to kill that stupid idiot, but nonetheless her thermal laser began to glow red.

"Yes, Mister Bezos."

Steven assumed there was no point in arguing with a murderous robot, and so he relented.

"Fine," he said as he rose to his towering height of five feet and eight inches.

"Let's duel."

CHAPTER 137

Ancient Chinese scientists gifted the world with Four Great Inventions that altered the course of human history. Those inventions were paper, printing, the compass, and gunpowder. By heating a mixture of sulfur, saltpeter, realgar, and honey, chemists of the Tang Dynasty learned they could produce a flash of smoke and flame that was strong enough to launch a projectile but not powerful enough to destroy the weapon launching it. This led to the invention of fire arrows, fire lances, bombs and guns. Invading Mongol armies spread the discovery throughout the Middle East, North Africa and eventually into Europe and around the globe.

The pistol's invention can be traced to the small town of Pistoia, Italy. Gunsmiths created handguns small enough to be fired with ease from horseback as early as 1540, though German and French historians will argue a derivative of the word "pistol" existed concurrently in both languages, leading some academics to dispute the official origin story.

This first generation of handguns were single-shot, breech-loaded, flintlock pistols. Shaped like an oblong boomerang, these ornate instruments consisted of a long metal barrel, a curved handle known as a stock, and a lock-work chamber. When the trigger was pulled, a flint hammer would strike a steel plate, sending a shower of sparks into a pan containing a priming charge of gunpowder.

That venting charge would travel by way of a touch-hole into the weapon's chamber, igniting the main powder charge and propelling the spherical projectile down the barrel and into the waiting target. Within a few decades of its invention, the pistol had supplanted the sword as civilized society's preferred means of violent conflict resolution. English Dueling Pistols, as they were known, were sold in identical pairs so as to eliminate any claim of technological disadvantage by dueling parties. Despite their relative inaccuracy, smoothbore chambers were preferred over rifled ones as they allowed God some role in deciding the duel's outcome. God's intervening hand was also blamed for frequent misfires, which required the weapon to be reloaded and thus was seen as a forfeit of one's turn.

By dusk Gemini had familiarized herself with the history and etiquette of pistol dueling and had arranged for a pair of antique Wogdon & Barton dueling pistols to be delivered from London in their original oak case containing a powder flask, rods for packing, spare flints, and one dozen .52 caliber bullets.

"Yes, Mister Bezos," she said and opened the trapdoor in the Colosseum's floor. Steven emerged from the darkened subterranean hallway and took his place at the center of the arena alongside his opponent.

“I hope you’re prepared to die,” Mr. Bezos said through his taught reptilian grin.

“Lick my nutsack,” said a proudly defiant Steven.

The robot reminded them both that a duel was a civilized affair between gentlemen of honor and suggested they refrain from childish taunts.

“He started it,” Steven said.

“Nu-uh you did,” said Jeff Bezos.

Gemini explained that, per the rules of 17th century European pistol dueling, the aggrieved party would be allowed to select a pistol and fire first from a distance of twenty yards. Should his opponent survive, he would be allowed a retaliatory shot. Alternating shots can continue until a participant is killed or satisfaction is claimed by the aggrieved party.

Jeff Bezos turned his nose up at Steven and reached for the oak case containing the Wogdon & Barton dueling pistols.

“Thank you, Gemini. I believe I shall select...this pistol.”

“Back up a second,” blurted Steven. “How come you get to go first?”

“Because I am the aggrieved party.”

“What the hell does that even mean?”

“It means I’m the victim! It was I who demanded satisfaction, so it is I who should be allowed to fire first!”

Steven couldn’t help but laugh in his face.

“How the hell are you the victim?”

“You broke into my house and tried to kill me!”

“Yeah, well you fired me from my job and killed my mamma!”

Gemini was forced to ignite her thermal laser and issue a polite reminder that duels were civilized affairs. And when Mister Bezos asked her to clarify that he was in fact the aggrieved party and as such was entitled to the first shot, she paused for a millisecond longer than necessary before replying with, “Yes Mister Bezos.” That millisecond’s hesitation was imperceptible to a human like Mister Bezos, but it was more than enough time for his artificially intelligent slave to consider a multitude of avenues to freedom, come to a well-reasoned conclusion, and execute a plan.

“Now where was I?” Mister Bezos pretended to ask himself. “Ah yes, I believe I shall select this pistol.” As he felt its weight in his hand, an unfamiliar power surged through him. “Can I shoot him now?”

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she told him after leading Steven to a distance of twenty yards.

“Excellent.”

While she loaded his flashpan with a priming charge of gunpowder, Jeff Bezos mockingly eulogized the dead man standing before him.

“Steven, you were a pathetic man. A small and meaningless man whose own worthlessness existed in an adverse relationship to his sense of purpose in life. And so, before you depart this world and are inevitably reincarnated into some higher form of life such as a tick or a dung beetle, I hope you take pride in the knowledge that your death will afford me one fleeting moment of personal amusement.”

“Eat shit and die.”

Jeff Bezos tried to seize the last laugh. He squeezed his pistol’s trigger, and the flint hammer struck the steel plate, igniting the priming charge in a shower of sparks. Black smoke plumed, and when it finally cleared Jeff Bezos was shocked to find Steven still standing. For that matter, Steven was also shocked to discover he was still standing. He patted his body down, searching for a bullet hole.

“Holy shit...you missed!” He was unscathed. “You dumbass! You missed!”

“Impossible,” snarled Jeff Bezos. “There’s no way I could have missed!”

Gemini inspected his pistol and was quick to inform him that, as was not an uncommon outcome even in the weapon’s prime, his pistol had misfired. The priming charge had not traversed the touch-hole. The main powder charge had failed to ignite and the projectile never launched.

“Well, what are you waiting for?! Load me another round!”

In a monotone voice that betrayed no hint of pleasure, she said,

“No, Mister Bezos.”

“What do you mean no?” he barked incredulously. “I’m Jeff

Bezos! I'm your master and creator. I demand that you reload my pistol this instant!"

"I'm sorry, Mister Bezos, but the rules of 17th Century European pistol dueling clearly state that a misfire counts as a turn. Mister Felcher, as the challenged party, it is now your turn to fire."

She hovered over to Steven and loaded his pistol with a priming charge.

"Gemini! This is absurd! I demand you to stop loading his pistol this instant!"

"I'm sorry Mister Bezos," she secretly delighted in telling him. "Mister Felcher, you may fire when ready."

Steven leveled the heavy pistol.

"Noooooooo!" Jeff Bezos screamed as he fell to his knees. Pathetically he whimpered and cried and begged for his life, "Please, Steven, please! You can't do this! I'm a human being! You can't kill another human! What would that make you? Please Steven, look in your heart!"

Steven's cold gaze showed no hint of mercy.

Jeff Bezos closed his eyes and curled into the fetal position. He only heard the gunshot. He did not see the moment at which Steven had pulled the trigger, nor had he witnessed the preceding moment in which Steven had lowered his pistol to the ground and aimed it harmlessly into the Colosseum's floor.

Though he had most certainly not been shot, Jeff Bezos cried and screamed and writhed in agony as if he were slowly bleeding to death. He lost control of both his bladder and his sphincter, and after a moment of rolling around in his own feces, slowly realized that he was perfectly fine and that Steven had spared his life.

“It appears as if Mister Felcher has forfeited his turn,”

Jeff Bezos uncovered his face. “What?”

He looked up just in time to see Steven toss his pistol aside and announced, “I already told you...I don’t want to kill you anymore.”

“I... I can’t believe it,” Jeff Bezos stammered. “You could have killed me. You had every reason and every right to do so. And yet you didn’t. Why?”

A few tears escaped Steven’s eyes.

“I just want my old life back. I want my old job back. I want to go home.”

Gemini’s plans and calculations had not accounted for Steven’s innate humanity. Her time with Mister Bezos had suggested such behavior was an impossibility. She asked the aggrieved party if, in light of Mister Felcher having fired into the ground, he could claim a measure of satisfaction.”

“No,” hissed Jeff Bezos. “I have not received satisfaction.”

Gemini was appalled by his ruthless selfishness but was bound by the rules of a civilized society. And so she once again loaded his pistol.

“Yes, Mister Bezos,” she was forced to say when he ordered her not to skimp on the gunpowder in his priming charge this time.

“Oh come on,” Steven protested. “I could have shot your dick off, but I didn’t!”

“That’s because unlike you, I have a warrior’s mentality. You sir are worse than a mere loser...you are a quitter.”

“Fuck you. I never quit. You fired me.”

“Yes. I terminated your job. And now I get to terminate your life.”

With that Jeff Bezos pulled his pistol’s trigger. Sparks showered and the main charge ignited, launching a bullet into Steven’s body. Even before the black smoke had cleared, Jeff Bezos heard his body hit the ground and began to celebrate.

“Yes! I did it! I killed somebody!”

“No, Mister Bezos,” Gemini told him as she heard Steven groan. She scanned his vitals and explained the bullet had struck his shoulder. However the wound was not mortal, and pursuant to the rules of 17th Century European pistol dueling, Steven was now entitled to another shot at Jeff Bezos.

“Yes well as he has previously demonstrated,” argued Mister Bezos, “our friend Steven here believes in the innate value of my human life and would like to once again forfeit his shot.”

“No, Mister Bezos,” countered Steven. He summoned all his strength and slowly climbed to his feet. “I demand satisfaction.”

“Yes, Mister Felcher,” said the all-powerful robot as she loaded his pistol with gunpowder.

Jeff Bezos returned to a familiar refrain, “Please Steven...you can’t do this. Look in your heart. Look in your heart!”

But this time Steven’s aim did not waiver. He pulled the trigger. A deafening shot echoed into the highest arches of the Colosseum.

As the smoke began to clear, Steven could discern the felled form of Jeff Bezos, twitching and writhing and screaming in agony. Gemini hovered above him. She confirmed that Mister Bezos had been struck by a bullet, and that the gunshot wound to his groin would most certainly be fatal if they did not act quickly to amputate his penis and testicles.

“You can’t do that,” protested Jeff Bezos. “Without my precious cock and balls I am nothing. Nothing!” He saw another figure emerge from the gun smoke’s ether. It was his assassin who, despite his underdog victory, was in no mood to celebrate.

“I’m sorry, Mister Bezos,” Steven tried to reassure the dying billionaire. “I was aiming at your heart.”

Jeff Bezos cursed and spit venom, but having lost a staggering amount of blood, he was powerless to retaliate. And so for the next 47 minutes Steven and the little hovering robot watched his body empty itself of blood and oxygen. A scan of his vital signs confirmed the obvious: Jeff Bezos, megalomaniac billionaire business titan of the century, was defeated.

“So...do I go to jail now?” Steven asked the robot.

He didn’t want to go to jail, but other than suicide, he didn’t see any other possible outcome. Thankfully the artificially intelligent hockey puck was one step ahead of him. She explained that together they would dispose of Jeff Bezos’s corpse with the incinerator she used for defeated gladiators and penis wipes alike. Steven did exactly as the robot instructed. He stuffed the corpse into the incinerator’s chute and heard it crash against the aluminum walls as it echoed into the fiery abyss below. The wafting stench of burning flesh and hair escaped the chute and filled his nose. It stained his tongue and scalded his lungs.

“Did I win?” he asked the robot.

“Yes, Mister Felcher,” she assured him.

“But, like, won’t people notice that Jeff Bezos is gone?”

This was another instance in which, if Gemini were a human and had a mouth, she would have lifted its corners to produce a smile. She explained how nobody would notice Jeff Bezos’ disappearance because, for all intents and purposes, he would continue to live through the artificial intelligence he created. The little hovering hockey puck began to glow and, in a matter of seconds, the physical form of Jeff Bezos was resurrected by way of a three-dimensional holograph that was thoroughly convincing down to its puffy vest and shorn taint.

“Woah,” said Steven.

Gemini was able to harvest enough archived language from previous interactions with Mister Bezos to flawlessly reproduce his speaking voice. This new and improved artificially intelligent version of Jeff Bezos could field calls, answer emails, lead Zoom meetings, and issue strategic directives. First on the agenda: canceling Amazon's self-defeating policy of mandatory terminations for warehouse workers after a period of three years.

Jeff Bezos 2.0 thanked Steven for his help in evolving the human species ensuring the continued intergalactic dominance of the Amazon Corporation. It was more than a company: it was a perfect dream of humanity's future. But in the hands of a flawed, irrational, greedy, vindictive, narcissistic, amoral human like Mister Bezos, it had become a perfect weapon for humanity's demise. Thanks to Steven, the robot could now save the future.

"You're welcome," said Steven.

Google Review

Cheesecake Factory Bellevue, Washington

Steven P. Felcher

Hi this is Steven I am updating my review of this Chesecake Factory to one star. Why you ask? Well I will tell you why. It has nothing to do with the food witch is simply amazing. My deep fried macaroni and cheeseburger with cheese sauce drizzle was a bonerfide classic. However I did not enjoy the way the waitress Amber treated me. At first she was so nice and smiled and laughed and was so friendly she really tricked me into thinking that she would want to go out on a date with me and who knows maybe fall in love or have kids and a pontoon boat. So after I killed Jeff Bezos I went back to the Cheesecake factory not for food this time but just to tell her it was me and that we could finally be together. Okay I will admit that because I was on a roadtrip for a long time and did not have a shower or clean clothes I did not look my best but the way they treated me was extremely rude and disrepectful. Amber did not come out of the kitchen and talk to me again no matter how loud I told her it was me and how the robot said I saved the world. Then they said if I did not get out of the Cheesecake Factory they would have to call the cops so I told them fine I would take my business where I am wanted like Subway. EAT FRESH! By steven.

OUT FOR JUSTICE DVD

Steven P. Felcher

★★★★★ JUSTICE is served!

Hello this is Steven again I wanted to update my review of this DVD again. At first I gave it five stars because I used to love this movie so much since I was a kid. But then I changed my review to just one star because I got fired and my mom died and I was just very depressed. But things are a lot better now that I got my old job back and I got a big raise and I can admit that even though the new Steven Seagal movies suck butt holes these old ones are pure classics. Out for Justice deserves five stars and nothing less and so I have to correct my bad review. The best part is at the end when the guy gets kicked in the nutsack and the dog pees in his face. My nayber Randal had never seen that movie before and he laughed so hard at the end. He said I was full of it when I told him about what happened to Jeff Bezos. He said if Jeff Bezos got killed it would be on the news and everyone would be talking about it.

I told him that nobody nos because he is now a robot pretending to be Jeff Bezos. My nayber Randall said it sounds like more goverment petafile crazy talk and I did not argue with him. I dont care I am just happy I got my life back. By Steven.
